HOOVER PLEADS HARDING'S PLAN OF WORLD COURT

U.S. Left Free Agent, He Tells Women.

BY KATE WEBBER.

Des Moines, Ia., April 11.—[Special.]—Addressing the convention of the National League of Women Voters, Herbert Hoover tonight presented what is generally considered to be the Harding administration attitude toward the league of nations and proposed world court.

Mr. Hoover asserted that "America at no time has ever diminished its interest in the prevention of war in the world," but made clear the distinction he desired to draw between the world court and the league of nations.

Another proposal for solution of world problems was given the women when Judge Florence Allen of the Ohio Supreme court advocated the outlawry of all war as a crime under the law of nations.

"Advocacy and Realization," Secretary Hoover, in an implied reply to this proposal, declared that "we have to progress not through sheer advocacy but along the road of realistic ideals," a statement that drew prolonged applause, as did his declaration that "America is not yet ready to go the whole gamut of international cooperation; nor are other nations."

In answering the most prevalent objection to the proposed world court—that participation in it by the United States would draw our nation into the league of nations, Mr. Hoover said: "By joining the court we are not entering the league in any sense."

Not Starting a New "Boom."

In spite of his advocacy of Mr. Harding's plan on the world court, Mr. Hoover said he was not for the purpose of starting any "boom" for United States entry into the court.

"Had I known," said Mr. Hoover in an interview before his address "that any political importance was to be attached to my speaking to the League of Women Voters, I should not have come within a thousand miles of this place. This speech is most certainly not an opening gun in a fight for the world court, but mere support of what President Harding strongly recommended in his last message."

Answers World Court Critics.

"The proposals to join the court," said Mr. Hoover, "have been criticized from various angles. The first of these is that it leads us into some undescribed political entanglement. This is untrue, for the decision of the international court are based upon the process of law, not upon political agreement; their enforcement rests wholly on public opinion and not upon force."

In supporting this court we subscribe to no compulsion whatever. Compulsion is, in fact, specifically excluded. We do not need to submit any case to the court unless we feel like doing so at the time the case arises."

Involves No Compulsion.

"No other nation can summon us to court except with our consent. The court itself cannot summon us in, nor in any manner or degree exert upon us any kind of compulsion, not even moral. Our proposal to enter the court and the act of adhesion to it, which President Harding has asked is based upon the assumption that compulsion is not necessary for peoples of good will and a sense of justice."

"It is true that part of the other nations, in joining this court, have joined it in a slightly stronger degree. These other nations have been moved either because they have greater faith in the processes of international cooperation than America is able to show in its present mood of distrust, or else because harsh suffering has made them more fearful of the menace of war."

Harding Makes Stipulations.

"But the adhesion which President Harding proposes to the international court is strictly limited by carefully drawn stipulations which will no doubt be fully considered by the senate. All we do if we really President Harding's proposal—all the promises we make—the only obligation we take are these, and only these: We promise to pay a share of the running expenses of the court, a matter less than $40,000 a year, and we promise to take part with forty other nations in the choosing of the judges. This judges are men of international reputation, who sit nine years and are freed of all prejudice except to maintain principle and law."

"There is another section of opponents of President Harding's proposal who condemn the idea, not because they do not agree to its primary purpose and method, but solely because it was erected under the auspices of the league of nations."

"But we are not by this act entering the league of nations."

LOCAL.

"I never did" is "Ma" Koulik's defense line in her face and figure and voice sagged yesterday when "Ma" Koulik took the stand in her own defense in Judge Marcus Kavanagh's criminal court and denied, unenthusiastically, that she had given arsenic to her first husband, Wolke Sturmer, for whose death, in 1918, Tillie Kilmek's cousin is being tried.

"Never did," was the monotone, sing-song reply that Mrs. Nellie Sturmer-Koulik made to all accusations of administering rat poison to her husband. And an equally dull, dead "Never did" was her answer to the charges that she had "spoiled" indiscriminately with Koulik, her roomer, while her first husband was alive.

Portrayed as Vamp.

Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Peden and William McLaughlin, assisted by testimony from her own children, have portrayed Tillie 48 year old Polish mother of twelve children as a "mid-channel" vamp, and the alleged instigator of twilight petting parties on the back stoop of the rude dwelling at 1218 Wade street.

But when she wobbled into the witness chair yesterday, Nellie seemed a sexless bulk of iron, imitation seal coat; cotton stockings, plain green skirt, sunken gums, and hardened hands. The spark back of this lump figure was the voice, a colorless, lifeless, sing-song monotone.

As she tells of her life in the box factory, of her husband's leisurely life of fishing, during fifteen of her twenty years of marriage, Mrs. Sturmer-Koulik becomes less like the peasant. Again and again she tells her black hat backward, at an awkward angle, and wipes up the perspiration from her forehead. She is the more emotional of the famous "K" cousins.

Eyes Follow Attorneys.

With her metallic, brittle cousin, Tillie Kilmek, as a yardstick, "Ma" Koulik is hopelessly inadequate as a witness. Where Tillie's brown eyes shot forward so straight they baffled the spectators, Nellie's watery blue eyes constantly shift. They follow each movement of her two attorneys, John Prystalski and James C. O'Brien. John Prystalski takes her by the hand, verbally, and questions her regarding the confession she is alleged to have made to Assistant State's Attorney Edward J. Lyons and Lieut. Malone.

Denies Poisoning Story.

Her story of her arrest begins. While it was working by the box factory some detectives came and took me in a big automobile to the building. I was taken by a room by some big attorney and he asked me some questions.

"At any time," she is asked, "did you tell him or any one else that Tillie Kilmek asked you for some poison and that you gave her some?"

"Never did, no, sir, never did."

"Did you ever give your husband any poison?"

"Never did, no, sir, never did."

"Did you ever put any poison in any food you cooked?"

"Never did."

"In all your life, did you ever see any arsenic?"

"No, sir, never did."

As she hobbles solidly back to her seat in the courtroom, there is a flash of undercurrent green cotton. She shows her first spontaneous action as she hurries to cover it, and the top of her "comfortable" boot, with her skirt.

Never Saw Poison in House.

Her children, half a dozen of them, take the stand in hurried succession. The two daughters, Mrs. Frances Sperk and Lily Sturmer, have new bright colored hats. But the tears stream down their faces as they testify. "Ma" Koulik feels sorry for them. She sighs with relief as each is dismissed.

They have all, the six, insisted that when the five policemen searched the Wade avenue home, following "Ma's" arrest there was no trace of poison found anywhere. They also declare they never saw poison in the house at any time.

The evidence is all in.

Nellie Koulik's eyes are half closed as she takes her by the arm and steers the squat lady of the peasantry past the jury, around a corner into which she bumps mechanically, and out of the court.

Her children gather in the corridor, defending their mother in high pitched sibilant. They will reasonable this morning to hear the closing arguments. The case will go to the jury this afternoon.

PARTY LINES

When there was only one important issue, party lines were clearly defined.

But now, with all these new issues, party lines are almost wiped out.

WILD YARNS GIVE DEATH BLOW TO FORMER BANK AID

Broken hearted at accusations made against him by excited residents of St. Charles, Ill., P. J. Schmidt, former cashier of the St. Charles First National bank, dropped dead yesterday, a few minutes after he had declared himself too ill to discuss the charges.

Mr. Schmidt, 63 years old, resigned his position about two months ago. The resignation became known on Tuesday and the news was at once followed by rumors as to the bank's stability and as to large defalcations on his part. There was a run on the bank.

It was freely rumored that the former cashier had embezzled funds to the extent of $150,000, all of which had been made good by wealthy depositors to cover up the defalcations. Colors were sent to the rumor by the fact that Mr. Schmidt, recently had sustained severe losses through his investments in farm lands.

An immediate death was issued by the bank, which stopped the run. A federal bank examiner was sent for. He reported yesterday that everything was in order.

Mr. Schmidt was, however, deeply hurt by the accusations against him, and when asked if he would care to make a statement, merely said, "I am too sick to talk."

A few minutes later he dropped dead.

He is survived by his widow and one sister.

PAUL BIESE AND 2 WOMEN ROBBED

Lose $7,700 in Money and Gems to Bandits.

Paul Biese, well known orchestra leader, was 28 years old yesterday and celebrated the event last night at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Admirers presented him with a lot of American beauty roses. They proved a costly present.

In company with Miss Modene La Pond, motion picture actress, and Mrs. Edith Fellows, wife of H. D. Fellows, bond broker at 29 North La Salle street, he left the hotel to continue the celebration at the Marigold Gardens.

Met by Armed Robbers.

He detoured to his apartment at 4901 Kenmore avenue to leave the roses. As he alighted from the car he was confronted by two robbers, both armed.

Thrusting a revolver into his back, the bandit ordered him to back into the car and demanded his money and jewelry. Mr. Biese stripped off two diamond rings valued at $1,250, reached in his pocket and handed him $80, the wrappings of a roll of $1,000.

Seeing the plight of her escort, Miss LaPond wrenched three diamond rings worth $2,000 from her fingers and passed them to the second robber, with a hysterical plea: "Don't shoot!" Threatening to strike the pleading woman, one robber twisted four bracelets from her wrist, seized her purse, and turned to Mrs. Fellows. She yielded up her wedding ring.

Threatens a Bullet.

Putting the gun to the musician's head, one bandit ordered him to "Beat it, or I'll shoot." He dashed down the street to the nearest store and telephoned to the police.

The police believe the stickup was a "tipoff," and that the robbers knew that Mr. Biese was carrying the $1,000 roll, which, with a gold medal, was awarded him Tuesday night at the Arkadia, where his orchestra carried off first prize as the best dance band in Cook county.

The jewels were insured. The victims place their total loss at $7,700.

HOWARD CARTER, CO-DISCOVERER OF TUT, IS ILL

CAIRO, Egypt, April 11.—[United News.]—Howard Carter, the American assistant to the late Earl of Carnarvon and co-discoverer of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, has been ill for several days and his condition has just taken a change for the worse.

Mr. Carter's illness has caused great anxiety to Lady Carnarvon, who even postponed her departure for London with Carnarvon's body, to remain at Mr. Carter's bedside.

Dr. Johnson, Carnarvon's leading physician, and other doctors have not yet publicly diagnosed the case.

News that Carter is ill has caused a revival of the legend that the curse of the Pharaohs would attend anyone who disturbed the tomb of a king.

Carter, a New Yorker, holds the nine year contract with the Egyptian government giving his party of archeologists permission to excavate in the valley of the kings.

Shortly after Carnarvon's death Carter announced that he would carry on the work as a memorial to the late earl.

Mr. Carter's persistence at searching for Tut-Ankh-Amen in face of discouragement after discouragement, was often faulted by Carnarvon, who gave his American co-worker full credit for the discovery.

3 OF 24 LOST IN EVERGLADES SAFE OTHERS ARE O. K.

Miami, Fla., April 12.—Three members of the Tamiami trail braziers reached Miami at 12:50 o'clock this morning. The entire party is safe, they reported.

On Wednesday nineteen men and five women in nine automobiles left Fort Myers to "break trail" through the Everglades. First alarm for their safety was expressed Friday when none of them had emerged from the swamps, over which a number of storms had raged.

First investigation showed that the 100 mile road had been washed out at both ends, and engineers who plunged into the morasses reported that great lengths of the path were under water.

Yesterday an aviator spent three hours above the forests, returning late last evening with the statement that no human life had been seen along the ruined road. The arrival of the other twenty-one members of the party is expected soon.

"I NEVER DID," MA KOULIK'S DEFENSE PLEA

Denies She Confessed Poisoning.

Hold Up Train, Take $30,000 Whisky Loot

Peoria, Ill., April 11.—A Santa Fe freight train was held up by a band of armed men two miles north of Morton, Ill., tonight and alcohol and whisky valued at $25,000 to $30,000 hauled away in automobile trucks. Four men boarded the caboose at Pekin, forced the crew to stop at Crandall's Crossing, near Morton, where ten armed men awaited with automobile trucks.

Photos Prove Einstein Has Right Theory

San Jose, Cal., April 11.—Dr. Albert Einstein's theory of relativity is confirmed by results deduced from photographs of the eclipse of the sun taken at Walla, on the northwest coast of Australia, Sept. 21, 1922, by the W. H. Crocker eclipse expedition from the Lick observatory, University of California, according to a statement issued today by Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of the observatory, who headed the expedition.

"These results are in exact accord with the requirements of the Einstein theory," Dr. Campbell's statement said.

"The agreement with Einstein's prediction from the theory of relativity, one and seventy-five hundredths seconds of arc, is as close as any one could hope for."

Further Test Unnecessary.

"In fact, the agreement of our observed data with the predicted value is so satisfactory that the Lick observatory does not plan to repeat the Einstein test at the solar eclipse due to occur in extreme southwestern California and in Mexico on Sept. 10, 1924."

Dr. Campbell's statement continues: "Two photographs of the eclipsed sun and its immediate surroundings were secured in Australia with each of two specially designed cameras with lenses having apertures five inches in diameter and focal lengths of fifteen feet. The four sensitive plates, seventeen inches square each, recorded the images of several scores of stars in the group surrounding the sun, though in reality these stars were many millions of miles as far away from us as the sun."

Several years ago Einstein said that his theory of relativity must stand three astronomical tests successfully or he revised one of three tests consisting of the eclipse problem with which we are now concerned.

Results in Accord.

"Dr. Robert Trumpler and I have each measured three of the four Australian plates and the three corresponding night plates completely and independently. The number of star images measured on these plates varied from sixty-two to a minimum to eighty-four as a maximum."

"Four out of the six sets of measures have been subjected to rigorous mathematical treatment, and the five results for the bending of a stellar ray just grazing the sun's edge are in close accord. They carry from a minimum of one and fifty-nine hundredths seconds of arc to one and eighty-six hundredths."

"This," he continued, "is as close as the most ardent proponent of Einstein's theory could hope for."

Kills His Invalid Father to "Put Him Out of Misery"

Jobless Riot

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

DUSSELDORF, April 11.—Two thousand disgruntled unemployed in Elberfeld could not find a hall for a meeting, so they marched four miles to Volvinkeln, in occupied territory, where they appealed to the French commandant to muster his forces and return with them to Elberfeld to take over the city. Meeting without orders, the commandant's decision was to disperse them.

Simultaneously unemployed at Barmen, a sister city of Elberfeld, gathered in a square and indicated the streets of speakers that they would bait street cars and trams and interfere with public services unless their doles were increased. The police dispersed them, a few heads being broken in the fracas.

Another victim of the Krupp shooting died today, making a total of fourteen.

Railway tracks in the militarized route, near Euer, were blown up last night.

BLACK BLAMES "BLOODY HERRIN" ON COL. HUNTER

Failed to Ask for Troops,
"Adj. Gen." Says.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—(Special.)—The entire blame for the failure of the state to get troops into Herrin in time to prevent the massacre of June 21, last, was placed on the shoulders of Col. Samuel N. Hunter, personnel officer in the office of Adj. Gen. Carlos E. Black, according to testimony of Gen. Black today before the subcommittee of the house of representatives appointed to investigate this affair.

Twice on the evening of June 21, Gen. Black testified, he talked with Col. Hunter, who was in the field at Herrin, and was assured by him that the situation was getting better, and that there was no need for troops.

Gen. Black said today before the subcommittee of the house of representatives appointed to investigate this affair, that he had been told by Col. Hunter that the situation was getting better, and that there was no need for troops.

Says He Begged for Troops.
Col. Hunter, who is believed to have been on the scene of the massacre, was asked today by the subcommittee of the house of representatives appointed to investigate this affair, whether he had begged for troops.

The issue as presented lies squarely between these two men. Many discrepancies in Gen. Black's testimony were pointed out by Representative Michael Igoe (Dem., Chicago), on cross-examination. The report of Col. Hunter filed July 5 denies the Black testimony in important features.

One of the most remarkable bits of Gen. Black's testimony was to the effect that at 10:20 o'clock on the morning of the massacre, when the papers were filled with the story and every one in southern Illinois knew about it, he talked with Col. Hunter at Marion over the telephone and was informed by the colonel that he had not heard that any one had been killed.

Against Secret Hearing.
The committee got into action late this afternoon after some trouble in organization. The question of executive meetings and an executive steering committee within the committee was threshed out and defeated. Mr. Igoe served final notice that he would sit in no secret session. It was arranged to give the governor a transcript of the testimony, and it is understood that he will be called soon as a witness.

As a preliminary to the session, Mr. McCarthy read the portion of President Harding's last message to congress in which he referred to the Herrin affair as a blot on the nation and regretted that justice had failed in Illinois.

Gen. Black was examined first by Mr. McCarthy. He had a great pile of notes and referred to them for all his movements.

Black Tells His Side of It.
Q.—Give the committee all the information that came to you about the Herrin affair on June 21 or prior. A.—I first heard of the trouble on Monday, June 18, when I was informed that the newspapers reported trouble was expected at Herrin. I learned that Hunter had tried to get me at Logan and at Washington, and then he proceeded to Herrin in the line of his duty to investigate. That same day I got a phone call from Hunter, who advised me that there was bitter feeling at the Lester mine and he thought there would be trouble and recommended that two companies be held in readiness. I told him to advise the sheriff to maintain order and report to me later in the day. Meantime I decided to send three companies, if needed—the commands at Salem, Mount Vernon, and Cairo.

Hunter advised me that the sheriff had sworn in no deputies and that he did not anticipate the use of troops, as things were quieting down. I advised him to let me know if troops were necessary.

Mobilization Not Justified.
Q.—On the 19th did you receive any other information? A.—Hunter felt a bad feeling was impending, and the mine was being operated by the non-union men.

Q.—That did not justify mobilizing? A.—No.

Q.—Were there any reports of violence? A.—No, the contrary. They said the sheriff had no request for troops.

Q.—When did you talk with Hunter next? A.—On Tuesday, 7:35 p. m., he said things were adjusting themselves and trouble seemed to be dying down. He said there was no cause for alarm, as the citizens there were cooperating with the peace officers.

Q.—What next? A.—On Wednesday at 1 p. m. he told me of the oranges.

THE POET'S BREAKFAST
"When dressed, I to the yard repair and breakfast on the pure, fresh air."

Thus wrote Montgomery, the refined poet; but then he went on to say:
"For reasons strong enough for me, I mend the meal with toast and tea."

To which the man at CHILDS would add a couple of freshly poached eggs,
Or a bit of orange marmalade and a deliciously tender omelet.

LIGHT IS MATTER

BY SELBY MAXWELL.

Einstein said that light is matter, faster than dust, but moving as fast as possible, or 186,000 miles per second. Because it is matter, it should be affected by gravity, and should fall like a load of flying shot, falls to the earth.

But on account of its great speed, light goes far beyond the earth before our gravity can act on it, and so scientists could not tell whether it fell or not.

He suggested that the sun would be a better body to try the experiment on. Its gravity is twenty-seven times as strong as that of the earth, and a ray of light, just grazing the sun's surface, must travel through this field of force for a million miles.

At times of solar eclipse the sun's face is hidden by the bulk of the moon. Then faint stars can be seen peeping out from beyond. Their rays in many cases graze the sun.

If Einstein's theory were true, these stars would have their light rays sagged by gravity and they would appear to be pushed away from the sun. The mathematician even predicted the amount of shift to expect. His forecasts are now announced to be verified.

tion of a citizens' committee to work with officials and he thought this would bring the desired result. At 3 p. m. there was another call. Hunter said there were reports of trouble at the mine and he had advised the sheriff to investigate and he said the sheriff could handle the situation. Later that day I got a call from W. J. Lester, president of the mine. He was in Chicago, at the Great Northern, I think. He said there had been trouble at the mine. At 4:42 I called the commanding officer at the three towns named and told them to have their phone lists for a call. I felt that what Lester said was true that Hunter would report soon and I would have troops mobilized quicker. I did not receive any more reports from Hunter until 6:30 that evening. He said there had been a demonstration at the mine, but that he had arranged a truce and there was no cause for apprehension. I told him I had notified the three companies and to keep on the job. He called me again at 11 that night and said everything was all right. That was the last report I received from him previous to the actual happenings.

Still Felt All Was Well.
Q.—What time did the report of a disturbance come? A.—At 4 p. m. he said the mob had done some firing. I think he said two union men had been killed. He felt everything was all right.

Q.—Did you know that the miners were armed? A.—No.

Q.—Did you hear of an attack on nonunion men in a truck? A.—I had no information at that time.

Q.—Continue. A.—At my office on June 22 I was advised that there had been shooting and casualties. At 9:30 I called Col. Hunter and got him at 10:20. He expressed surprise and said he had not heard of the killings. I told him to investigate and report. At 11:33 he verified the report I had given him that morning.

Q.—If Hunter had wanted troops who would he have called?

Q.—If Hunter had wanted troops who would he have called?

Q.—What time did the report of a disturbance come? A.—At 4 p. m. he said the mob had done some firing. I think he said two union men had been killed. He felt everything was all right.

Q.—Did you know that the miners were armed? A.—No.

Q.—Did you hear of an attack on nonunion men in a truck? A.—I had no information at that time.

Q.—Continue. A.—At my office on June 22 I was advised that there had been shooting and casualties. At 9:30 I called Col. Hunter and got him at 10:20. He expressed surprise and said he had not heard of the killings. I told him to investigate and report. At 11:33 he verified the report I had given him that morning.

WOES OF SUBWAY DWINDLE AS NEED GROWS INSISTENT

Dever Faces Problem with Wide Backing.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Ancient arguments against a rapid transit subway have vanished up the spout, a fact hailed as propitious as the incoming Dever administration prepares to tackle the traction problem.

A few years ago opponents of fast underground service used to come into committee hearings at the city hall with loud shrieks that a subway would simply serve to build up the center of town and to concentrate all trade and business within the confines of the elevated loop. They used to shout that swift transit downtown would mean collapse of outlying business districts and that smaller merchants would have to close up shop.

Arguments Fall One by One.
As sidelines they used to urge that a downtown subway would benefit passengers on the north and south sides, while the west side would have to walk to save time. When this theme was exhausted they used to ring the chimes on the "floating foundation" argument—no subway could be built in a downtown street because the tall buildings on either side would get lopsided when the excavations disturbed foundation pressures.

Time in its passage has let the gas out of these arguments. Among old opponents of the subway it is now clearly recognized that adequate transportation throughout the city cannot be developed until the traffic blockade in the loop is lifted by a means of swift passage underground.

The loop district itself has long since burst through its old bounds. The automobile trade opened up Michigan avenue to the south. Business expanded southward in Wabash avenue and State street, while over to the west the clothing and garment industry and the wholesale trade built up the region to the river and beyond. Completion of the Michigan avenue link bridge opened the district to the northward, where development is now the fastest route of expansion from the old loop.

Lines Changing Rapidly.
Designation of the central business area as the "loop," a term which originally applied to the district within the elevated loop, is no longer closely descriptive. Transportation engineers in studying the city's needs lay emphasis instead on the central business district, by which they designate the area lying between Division and 12th streets, Lake Michigan and Racine avenue.

The loop district is fast expanding into the central business district, which itself will expand later as population grows, if supplied with adequate transportation. It is the district in which the greatest part of the daily traffic is carried, and whatever reduces the jam here will speed service up in the territory outside.

Years ago the basic idea of the original rapid transit and surface lines as the engineers for years have pointed out, was the carrying of people to and from the old loop district. Then transfer arrangements were made, and at length through-routing was established. But still passengers moving between the north, south and west districts in general have to pass through the crowded central area, swelling the loop.

The policy advocated by the all-Chicago council, embracing some 100 organizations in all parts of the city, is physical development based on adequate and rapid transportation outside the loop; creation of rapid transit routes enabling passengers to go from one portion of the city to another without going through the loop; relief of loop congestion. This theory has been laid down in the several engineering studies. Obviously it points to a rapid transit subway as the first necessary item in bringing general improvement.

BEDLAM RULES IN PARLIAMENT; SING "RED FLAG"

Row Due to Snap Defeat of Bonar Law.

BY JOHN STEELE.

LONDON, April 11.—(Tribune Radio.)—A wild scene in the house of commons this afternoon as a result of the snap defeat of the government last night forced its adjournment.

When the government tried to retrieve its defeat by passing a motion that the house go into committee tomorrow the Laborites argued that this was merely a repetition of the motion on which the government was defeated, and the feeling rose so high that the speaker ordered adjournment of the house for an hour in the hope that the members would cool down.

When the house reassembled it was crowded in every part and the Labor members were determined to press their victory. The speaker immediately announced that in view of the grave disorder he had decided to exercise his power, and declared the house adjourned.

Two Got Walloped in the Face. Before the first adjournment the Laborites had stood up in the house and sung "The Red Flag," and as the members were filing out something like a free for all fight between the Laborites and the government supporters occurred, in which the Hon. Walter Guinness was hit on the nose. Maj. Wormley-Gore, colonial undersecretary, was also hit in the face by Robert Murray, a Laborite. Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, who was acting as government leader in Prime Minister Bonar Law's absence, and Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor leader, separated their followers.

The debate had gone on in fairly orderly fashion for more than an hour and a half. Mr. Baldwin, speaking for the prime minister, frankly admitted that the government had been caught napping and the opposition was entitled to any joy that might be out of its victory. It did not mean, however, that the government had lost the confidence of the house.

Lord Demands Fruits of Victory. Mr. MacDonald argued that the motion was a repetition of the motion defeated last night, and he denied that the victory had been a snap one, but was due to the fact that four Conservative had voted against the government because they were dissatisfied with its policy on industrial affairs. The speaker ruled that the motion was not a repetition.

A long discussion followed, during which there was considerable disorder and some interruptions, but all was good humored when it was recalled that the last snap division was in 1912, when the government defeated by the opposition was led by the present prime minister, and Donald McNeill, now undersecretary for foreign affairs, threw a book across the house. The speaker remarked that this debate was quite orderly by comparison.

Pleads for ex-Soldiers. The trouble started when Jack Jones, a Laborite, started speaking on the subject which was under debate when the snap division was taken last night—the condition of former soldiers and sailors.

"They are the bone of our bone, the flesh of our flesh," they are our brothers," shouted Mr. Jones. "You are the manufacturers of their destiny. You sent them to their death. A million of them left their bones on the battle fields. Two millions came home, almost all to throw themselves on the parish."

Mr. Baldwin interposed to say that he would look into the matter and would try to make a statement about it, but the government was not able to make a statement now. The Labor men shouted derisively and began singing and the speaker declared the house adjourned for an hour. Then the scuffling and fist-fighting started.

Like Dinners Too Well. There is likely to be a drastic reorganization of the Conservative party machine as a result of last night's defeat, when many of the Conservatives were absent for dinner. This is one of the recognized weaknesses of the Conservative government—its members like to dine—whereas the members of the Labor and Liberal parties are not so keen for the fleshpots and watch for opportunities to snatch marches such as they did last night.

DIVORCE GRANTED MRS. PECKHAM ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Mrs. Frances Peckham, named as the ten year confidante of James H. "Rolls-Royce" Murphy in a recent sensational divorce case, was divorced yesterday from Frederick A. Peckham, wealthy railroad contractor and well known Philadelphia turfman, after a hearing before Judge Timothy D. Hurley.

Other phases of the Murphy-Peckham marital tangle, revealed when Mrs. Meta Murphy, 219 Lake Shore drive, sued her broker-husband for divorce and named an entire Follies chorus, with Mrs. Peckham as the "other woman," are expected to occupy the divorcee's attention today.

Preliminary hearings of the Murphy divorce are scheduled before Master in Chancery Stillwell this morning, while in the afternoon Mrs. Peckham is expected to appear as a material witness in a $400 damage suit brought by her mother, a wealthy Cleveland widow, against Murphy in the Municipal court.

Murphy's courtship of Mrs. Peckham, according to the mother's attorney, William F. Ader, was featured by the damage done to an expensive automobile which was borrowed by the broker from his "sweetheart's" mother.

Peckham, who formerly maintained offices in the Railway Exchange building, was indicted in 1915 for complicity in a conspiracy by which agriculture department reports on cotton "leaked out" in advance to speculators.

When asked to give opinion. On the subject of the divorce, which was under debate when the snap division was taken last night—the condition of former soldiers and sailors.

TITLED ADVOCATE OF LEAGUE "CHILD IN U. S. POLITICS"

So Lord Robert Cecil Says on Arrival.

Lord Robert Cecil, champion of the league of nations and self-confessed "child in American politics," spent a few hours in Chicago last night, expressed gratitude for the reception accorded him in America, predicted that Turkey will become a member of the league, and hurried on to Des Moines, Ia., where he is to address the National League of Women Voters before returning to Chicago for his speech in Orchestra hall on Monday.

Lord Robert arrived over the Grand Trunk from Toronto and was met by Victor Elting, president of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, whose guest he will be during his Chicago visit. He was escorted to the office of H. G. Hettler, president of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, in the Dearborn station, where he briefly discussed his American tour.

When asked to give opinion. On the subject of the divorce, which was under debate when the snap division was taken last night—the condition of former soldiers and sailors.

'BOOZE DIVIDEND' PERMITS SEIZED; 2 INQUIRIES ON

Earnshaw and Olson Sift Both Sides of Case.

Eighty-three permits under which many stockholders of Grommes & Ulrich received their share of the "booze dividend" following dissolution of the company last week, were taken over yesterday by Col. E. A. Earnshaw, chief of the special intelligence unit, bureau of internal revenue.

The permits are being held pending completion of the federal inquiry into the transaction, it was said, photographic copies for the prohibition office records having been ordered.

Olson Predicts Indictments. The temporary remanding of the permits was the first step in what District Attorney Edwin A. Olson declares will be a last ditch fight to compel the stockholders to relinquish the rare liquors disbursed as dividends and which, he predicts, will end in indictments against many of them.

Although declaring that he is now convinced that true bills will be asked against participants in the distribution, the district attorney again refused to divulge complete list of the stockholders. Those who are said to have drawn a split in the "liquidation of assets" include: Potter Palmer, Otto W. Lehmann, Charles W. Murphy, former president of the Cubs; Municipal Judge Emanuel Eller, and former Ald. Robert J. Mulcahy.

Discrepancies Are Found. The discrepancy between the number of permits turned over to him and the admitted number of stockholders was another matter on which Col. Earnshaw remained mute. It is said that the number of participants in the liquidation nearly double the number of permits taken.

Formal investigation will get under way tomorrow with the return of Prohibition Director Roscoe C. Andrews, by whom the questioned distribution was sanctioned and who assigned guards to protect the movement of the $200,000 stock of pre-war liquors.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, it will be recalled, delivered a drastic charge to the new grand jury, which is expected to hear testimony of the "blue book" stockholders.

$50 FLAT RENTED FOR HEIRESS TO GATES' MILLIONS

She's a $38,000,000 heiress, but she's going to live in a $50 a month flat on the main street of her home town.

St. Charles, Ill., yesterday learned that its most recent bride and groom, heiress Angeli, heir to the John W. Gates fortune, and Lester Norris, her boyhood sweetheart and young carter, who were married in Pasadena on March 29, have taken a three year lease on a flat on Main street. The monthly rental is $50.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris, speeding here in a luxurious motor car, will arrive in St. Charles April 16. They will go at once to their apartment which is now being put in readiness. The town plans to give them a house warming in relay, for a dozen guests would crowd the new home.

Mrs. Norris has purchased a thirty-eight acre tract near St. Charles, and plans to move her million dollar art treasures there from her gallery at Lake Forest.

'SPITEWORK SIGN' BLAMED FOR RUN ON ANOTHER BANK

West Side Patrons Are Calm After Rush.

A misleading notice posted in a window of the defunct Sixteenth Street bank by some unidentified person, presumably as a result of spite work, yesterday precipitated a run on the West Side National bank at Roosevelt road and Ashland boulevard. The run had died down when the bank closed its doors at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

All persons demanding their savings have been returned to the cashier's office, and the bank, which had been paid in full many of them, reassured, had redeposited their accounts, and most of the others simply drew out their money, transferred it to safety deposit boxes in the basement of the bank, and probably will redeposit it today.

Thomas J. Healy, president of the institution, estimated that only about $25,000 had been withdrawn. Herman Eilenbogen, cashier of the bank, who served for a brief period as president of the Sixteenth Street bank, blamed the run on certain enemies he had made by refusing to take over the affairs of the latter institution.

Cashier Blames Enemies. "Following the closing of the Sixteenth Street bank some of the depositors asked me to take over that bank," said Mr. Eilenbogen. "I agreed to work with a committee on an examination of the bank's affairs. I found several mortgages which were no good, and told the depositors they would have to get Samuel Maltz, former president of the bank, to clear these up before I would take charge."

"They went to Maltz, and he told them everything was all right, that I was to blame for closing the bank, and that he had $125,000 and would reopen the bank himself. Certain other depositors wanted a receiver appointed. I learned that last night some one attempted to have an ad inserted telling depositors in the Sixteenth Street bank I would pay them in full. The ad was refused. Then this morning the sign appeared on the bank."

The sign read: "Depositors may draw their money by applying for it at the West Side National bank."

Police Are Called. About 100 depositors marched to the West Side bank and clamored for their money. The Marquette police were called and the bank was cleared. The angry depositors scattered, circulated stories that they had been unable to get their money, and precipitated the run.

Business men, assured the affairs of the bank were in excellent shape, refused to withdraw their accounts.

PASTONI GUILTY; 6 SLAYERS NOW AWAIT GALLOWS

Another name was added to the list of men who are now awaiting execution in the county jail yesterday, when a jury returned a verdict of guilty against Casper Pastoni, young Italian musician, and sentenced him to death for the murder last July of Mrs. Elizabeth Wittich, wife of a traveling salesman.

Pastoni is the sixth man to whom the death penalty has been given since State's Attorney Crowe ordered his staff of assistant to "go out and get the rope for all murderers" five weeks ago. During the term of "Levey" Hoffman, William Cramer, Bernard Grant, west side gunmen, and Thaddeus Johnson, colored wife murderer, have been sentenced to the gallows. James Smith, another gunman, was sentenced by Judge Marcus Kavanagh in February.

While he was tried on the charge of murdering Mrs. Wittich, Pastoni is also accused of killing the woman's 4 year old daughter, Elizabeth Ann. It was brought out in testimony by assistant State's Attorney Edgar J. Lyons and Louis O'Connor that the musician was in love with Mrs. Wittich.

On the night of July 5, he telephoned to her at her home at 1808 North La Salle street and invited her to come to his flat at 149 West Oak street. Half an hour later the woman appeared with Elizabeth Ann in her arms and Agatha, 7 years old, by her side. The three entered the man's house.

Pastoni immediately began to beg the woman to desert her husband, then in Boston on a business trip, and run away with him, it was said. Mrs. Wittich refused. She got up and moved toward the door. The man drew an automatic pistol and shot the woman twice in the head. Lowering the weapon a bit, he sent a bullet through the heart of the youngest child. Another bullet was fired at Agatha, but caused only a flesh wound.

Police Are Called. About 100 depositors marched to the West Side bank and clamored for their money. The Marquette police were called and the bank was cleared. The angry depositors scattered, circulated stories that they had been unable to get their money, and precipitated the run.

Business men, assured the affairs of the bank were in excellent shape, refused to withdraw their accounts.

SLATE FRAMERS JOCKEY TO NAME FINANCE PILOT

Ald. Kostner and Woodhull
Both After Place.

Chairmanship of the city council finance committee, a post which in the last year carried with it supervision of the expenditure of $25,105,000, appeared last night to be the rock on which organizers of the new fifty ward council may split.

At the end of a four hour session Chairman U. S. Schwartz of the committee on committees announced, as the division of the finance committee into three committees. Jurisdiction over elections was taken from the judiciary committee and given to a separate committee. These changes increase the number of committee assignments, making the task of the slateframers heavy.

Strive for Finance Helm.
Schwartz declared that creation of new committees will nullify the organizers' decision to reduce the major committee to eleven members in order to simplify council business. The new arrangement will make it easy to give every alderman at least four assignments, one organizer said.

Much of the day's session was spent in jockeying for position in the big struggle for the finance committee chairmanship. Ald. Joseph O. Kostner and Ald. Ross A. Woodhull are the two candidates. Kostner has the support of a majority of the committee on organization, but Ald. Schwartz is standing out for Woodhull, who has the backing of the Municipal Voters' league.

Friends of Ald. Kostner blame Herbert J. Friedman, secretary of the league and a law partner of Ald. Schwartz, for "putting the poison in on Kostner." With a majority of the committee back of him, Kostner has challenged the Woodhull backers to throw the finance committee chairmanship open to a council vote. The Kostners predict that their candidate will get at least thirty votes out of fifty.

Weakness on New Rule?
While Mayor-Elect Dever was complementing the committee on its decision to reduce the size of the most important committee to eleven members, the aldermen showed signs of weakening. It became known that at least two organizers are in favor of breaking the rule in the case of the finance committee. Fourteen of this body's members remain in the council and a dozen more are clamoring to get aboard.

There was more discord at the session when, as author of the Schwartz traction plan, Ald. Schwartz requested that he be allowed to name the entire traction committee. This other members refused to permit.

The committee met in a loop hotel, but it was not long before anxious aldermen ascended the meeting place. Ald. Schwartz stood out against the desire of Ald. Kostner, Woodhull, and Kaindl to take a trip out of the state and away from local influences. As a compromise the committee may go to a suburb tomorrow to complete the slate.

Harold F. White and Mr. Friedman, president and secretary of the M. V. L., called on Mayor-Elect Dever during the day. Judge Dever, it is reported, has refused to enter the finance committee lists in behalf of either Kostner or Woodhull. He has confined his advice to matters of policy rather than personnel in council organization.

$25,000 FIRE ON MILWAUKEE AVE. BLOCKS TRAFFIC

A fire, believed to have been started by improperly installed electric wires, caused damage estimated at $25,000 last night to a three story building at 1236-38 Milwaukee avenue. The building was occupied by Ferguson's cloak and suit store and by a branch of the Brothers Hat company. A "4-11" alarm was turned in, but the firemen put out the flames within an hour after their arrival. Street cars on Division street and Milwaukee avenue were blocked for that time.

Two Men Held on Kirsch Case Tip Fined $25 Each

Charles Fisher, 416 South Wabash avenue, and John Creighton, 338 Loomis street, were arrested last night by Lieut. William Schoemaker of the detective bureau on a tip to the police that they were the two men seen leaving the house of Theodore ("Teddy") Kirsch, former deputy sheriff, under State's Attorney Crowe, on the night that Kirsch was murdered.

Now a QUICK Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

When the Man Wants breakfast in a hurry

Your grocer now has Quick Quaker Oats, perfected by our experts. It is the quickest-cooking oats in the world. It is perfectly cooked in from 3 to 5 minutes—long before the coffee. An hour could not cook them better.

If you want quick breakfasts, get Quick Quaker for them.

No different flavor

Quick Quaker tastes exactly like regular Quaker Oats. Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flaky oats. All the puny and flavorless grains are discarded. We get but ten pounds of such flakes from a bushel. But their super-flavor has made this brand the favorite oat dish the world over.

In Quick Quaker the grains are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Quick Quaker, therefore, is ready in five minutes.

Get the style you prefer—Quick Quaker or regular. But insist, for your own sake, on the Quaker brand.

You want children to love oats. It is for them the greatest food that grows. Each pound yields 1810 calories of nutrient—twice as much as meat.

And here also is quick cooking, if you wish.

Regular Quaker Oats
Come in package at left—the style you have always known.

MERRIAM GIVEN PICK OF 3 CITY CABINET POSTS

Allan B. Pond Talked Of for School Head.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

It has been suggested to Prof. Charles E. Merriam that he take one of three appointments from Mayor Elect Dever. These are: Commissioner of public works at $10,000 a year, president of the board of local improvements at $5,000, or the presidency of the board of education with no compensation attached.

It is not expected that he will accept the job of commissioner unless permitted to name his own deputy and provided with other facilities for knowing everything that is going on in the department. The Democratic organization earnestly desires a deputy commissioner of its own liking, because in most city administrations the deputy handles the large amount of patronage of the department. It is not expected that the professor will accept the job of commissioner.

Not Likely to Take It.

If he were to become the president of the board of local improvements, it is reasonably certain he would insist upon having a board which would approve of his ideas of economy and administration. Of course, the Democratic leaders want those places for faithful workers. The presidency of this board offers enormous opportunities for a builder, but somebody must obtain the needed bond issues to get the cash with which to improve the city, and that task would probably fall upon the professor. It is not probable that he will accept this place.

The presidency of the board of education with an unfriendly board is not attractive. In view of the professor's pending promotion at the University of Chicago it is not expected that he will take the presidency of the board before July 1, if then. If he declines, as several political guessers predict he will, the place will be offered to Allan B. Pond, according to a man with authority to make such a definite statement. The professor's promotion makes acceptance of political appointments a trifle embarrassing at present.

Concerned About Schools.

The mayor-elect is very hopeful that the school situation will be worked out satisfactorily. It is said that four members of the board are ready to retire, if Mr. Dever asks it, and the tip was passed around yesterday that two others will follow.

Mr. Pond is an architect by profession, but is widely known for his civic work. He has not yet shirked a civic task imposed upon him; and if Mayor Elect Dever will show Mr. Pond it is his civic duty to accept, it is a good guess that he will. That solution could probably be arranged in a very short time.

A number of other persons, including Mrs. Moses L. Purvin, Mrs. W. S. Helffer and Victor Olander, have been urged for membership on the board, but no decision has been made. No announcements were forthcoming yesterday of the acceptance of any of the so-called outsiders of places in Mayor-Elect Dever's cabinet. That may be discouraging to Mr. Dever, but it is pleasing to a number of Democratic leaders who want jobs for their workers. Make Two Minor Appointments. Two minor appointments were decided upon yesterday. Ted Sullivan, Judge Dever's bailiff, will be with the city administration in a job paying around $2,500 a year. John J. Kelly, a young lawyer, will be city attorney, unless the program is changed.

Carter H. Harrison Jr. will probably be given a place. The one now in mind is a membership on the civil service commission, with Nicholas R. Finn as head of the commission.

COL. M'CORMICK AWARDED D. S. M. FOR WAR RECORD

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Robert R. McCormick, one of the editors of The Chicago Tribune, has been awarded a distinguished service medal for exceptionally meritorious services rendered during the world war as commander of a battalion of the 5th field artillery and later as a lieutenant colonel and colonel commanding respectively the 122d and the 61st field artillery.

The citation said Col. McCormick "displayed rare leadership and organizing ability, unusual executive ability, and sound technical judgment, contributing materially to the successful operations of the artillery of the American expeditionary forces."

In Getting Ahead

in the business world, self-confidence is essential.

And everyone recognizes that good-looking clothes are an important factor in fortifying self-confidence.

And most men who have made a success are those who are careful with their money and their clothes; they know there is a right price to pay—that above a certain price the value returns cease and that when the price is too low, there can be no dependable quality.

That is why an ever-increasing number of men, who are keen judges of good values, continue to buy Nicoll tailoring.

STATE BONUS IS UPHELD; PAYMENT STARTS ON JULY 1

Supreme Court Finds Act
Is Constitutional.

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Payment of Illinois' soldier bonus claims now in the hands of the service recognition board will take approximately nine months from the time payment starts on or before July 1. Adjt. Gen. Carlos E. Black announced today following the decision of the Illinois Supreme court upholding the bonus law.

The best record made in other states which paid a bonus was 1,000 claims a day, Gen. Black said, and on the basis of comparison he believes Illinois will be able to pay approximately 24,000 a month. With an increased force and greater efficiency, the service recognition board feels they will be able to surpass the best record of other states, Gen. Black said.

Will Hire More Clerks.

The board expects to increase the present force of clerks as soon as the legislature passes an appropriation for the purpose, and the work connected with the payment of the bonus will be expedited at greater speed, he added.

"The rules adopted by the board provide that consideration and approval of claims will be given in the order in which they were received," Gen. Black said. "By this method all will be treated with the maximum of fairness and the quickest possible payment will be made to all."

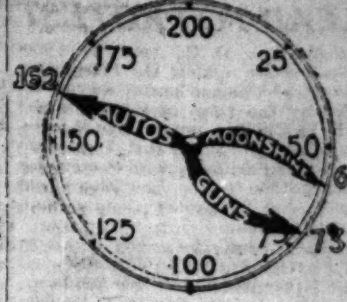

In its opinion, written by Justice Stone and concurred in by the four other members of the court who considered the case, the court dwelt at length on the contention that the bonus law commits the state to extending its credit for the benefit of individuals in violation of the state constitution.

Reasons Inspiring Bonus.

On this point the opinion said: "The state uses its credit as a means of procuring those funds, and if the only purpose of the act before us be a private one for the benefit of individuals the act comes within the prohibition of this section of the constitution and cannot be sustained."

"If it can be seen, however, that the purpose of the act is one which the state may carry out, the fact that, as incident to its execution, individuals

An unidentified man, apparently an employee of the Northwestern Terra Cotta company, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by a taxicab at Bowdoin and Clybourn avenues. A pay envelope bore the name of H. Hysay. The driver of the taxicab sped away, according to the police, and was pursued by August Lieby, driver of another taxicab, but escaped. Lieby took the man to Alexian Brothers' hospital where he died an hour later.

Tony Napoli, 14 years old, 19 West 55th street, who was run down a week ago by an automobile driven by Harry Kinney, 7208 South Green street, died of his injuries yesterday.

are benefited is not sufficient to make the act a private act for the private benefit merely.

"If the purpose of the act in question is one which lies with the sovereign power of the state, the credit of the state may be used in furtherance thereof, when the method prescribed by the constitution is followed, and such purpose is not defeated by the fact that individuals benefit thereby."

The court considered the payment of the bonus a moral obligation on the part of the state, holding that the soldiers were serving the state as well as the United States.

WARNING TO ELIGIBLES.

Attendants at THE TRIBUNE service bureau, 11 South Dearborn street, last night said there are on file at the bureau hundreds of service discharges, with completed certified copies, left many months ago by former soldiers, sailors and nurses. It is requested that they be called for. The applicants who left them cannot collect the bonus without them.

MOSCOW STOPS METHODIST TRIP TO RED PARLEY

Trial of Patriarch Tikhon
Given as the Reason.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
Copyright: 1923: By The Chicago Tribune.

PARIS, April 11.—The Methodist bishops' mission to Russia was called off today because Patriarch Tikhon of the Greek Orthodox church goes on trial shortly for his life.

Bishop Blake of the Mediterranean area received a notification at his Paris office this afternoon as he was making final preparations for his departure for Moscow tomorrow.

The mission was appointed by the board of bishops of the Methodist church of the United States after an invitation from the Bolsheviks to participate in the all-Russian church congress which begins in Moscow on April 15.

The American bishops were to advise the Bolsheviks how to reconstitute the church to make it independent of the state.

Confers with Red Envoy.

The notification came from Berlin, where Bishop John Nuelson conferred this morning with a Soviet representative.

He wired the Paris office of the church arresting the last minute preparations.

"The reason for the abandonment of the plan is that the all-Russian congress has been called off," Bishop Blake explained. "Patriarch Tikhon was to have been the guest of the congress, and his trial is the probable reason for the government's action, but I cannot say.

"I realize that the mission has been attacked in the United States on account of its supposed cooperation with the Bolsheviks, but I cannot discuss that. The American attacks had nothing to do with abandoning the scheme. The mission is not given up permanently, and we hope to go to Moscow in May or on some later date."

Methodists Not Molested.

From a high official of the church, however, it is learned that the mission has been scrapped. This was brought to Bishop Blake's attention.

"The Methodist church has operated in Petrograd and Moscow throughout the revolution unmolested by the Bolsheviks," the bishop asserted.

Bishops Blake of Paris, Anton Bast of Copenhagen and Nuelson of Berlin were to have headed the mission comprising college presidents and economists and a train of secretaries.

CHANGES MADE IN POSTOFFICE HERE LEAD TO PROTEST

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Protest against the reorganization of the Chicago postal service of the force of inspectors detached to Chicago several months ago and whose work has just been completed, was filed today with Postmaster General New by a delegation from Chicago led by former Congressman John J. Gorman.

Members of the delegation expressed themselves as satisfied with the sympathetic interest shown by Mr. New. They felt assured, they said, that he would make conditions in Chicago the subject of personal investigation.

Specifically, the delegation complained of the increase in night work resulting from the reorganization, reduction in the number of deliveries, overloading of carriers, speeding up of temporary clerks, in the effort to effect economies even at the expense of good service.

Generally they complained of charges without regard to local conditions or the views of local postal officials.

CAR PAY PARLEY MAY COME SOON; NO STRIKE TALK

Street railway strike talk, based on a report that union officials would ask for a wage increase for the employees within a few weeks, stirred little response from either side yesterday.

"Wage negotiations probably will be sought with the company officials within a short time, but we are not talking strike," said William Taber, secretary-treasurer of Street Car Men's union No. 241.

"Our contract does not expire until June 1, but provision is made for negotiations upon sixty days' notice by either party."

G. A. Richardson, vice president in charge of operations of the surface lines, said no overtures of any kind had yet been made by the union men.

ALLIES STRIVE TO SMASH TURK GRANT TO YANKS

Claim Americans Leave
Only Crumbs.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
Copyright: 1923: By The Chicago Tribune.

PARIS, April 11.—The chief object of the allies after the resumption of the Lausanne conference will be to break down the Turkish ratification of the concession granted to the American interests headed by Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, who agree to develop almost everything of value in the Ottoman empire.

"If the Americans get everything that Ankara promises in the concession there is little use for the others to wrangle at Lausanne over the crumbs and morsels left," a foreign official remarked today.

A number of the enterprises included in the concession long ago were granted to others, and it is doubtful if the new award will be legal. Capitulations are all the more necessary.

It is stated that the Chester concession has been the subject of an exchange of views among the allies who believe the Standard Oil company is behind the Chester project or is ready to gobble it up.

Germans Seek Railway's Return.

It is reported here that Herr von Strauss, director of the Deutsche Bank, is proceeding to London to negotiate with the British for the return of Germany's pre-war rights in the Baghdad railway. This also is raising the French, as this important bank passes along the edge of French Syrian protectorate. The French foreign office believes that American financial interests are backing the German efforts to regain control of the railway, but it insists that the treaty of Versailles definitely provides allied possession.

The action of Ankara in handing over the concession to the Chester interests is regarded here as the ranklest ingratitude after France's support of the Kemalists and Henri Frankfort's efforts on the Turkish behalf.

The most bitter rows are now expected in the Lausanne negotiations as there is no secret that the allies act together will attempt to smash the Chester grant. If the concession is recognized it will be practically useless to continue the discussion of economic clauses of the treaty as almost everything included will have been settled.

Greece to Pay No Indemnity.

M. Alexandris, the Greek foreign minister, conferred with Premier Poincaré today.

"Greece is absolutely resolved not to pay one drachma of reparations to Turkey," he told THE TRIBUNE. "I do not know whether the Turks intend to do about it, but the Greek government's mind is made up. Peace or war, we will not pay reparations."

Turkey owes Greece as much reparations as it claims from Greece. The conference at Lausanne settled the question once, and the allies assure me will not be changed now. I do not believe that Turkey will go to war to recover money to which it has no right."

PROHIBITION AS IS.

The liquor firm of Grommes & Ulrich, dissolving, distributed its assets to its stockholders. The assets were about $200,000 worth of whiskies, gins, rums, and wines. Some of the stockholders seem to have acquired their stock after they knew that there was to be a distribution of property. The attorney for the company said it was legal. A government permit for the removal of the liquor was given, and everything seemed to be all right. But it isn't. The federal grand jury is making all the stockholders nervous and unhappy.

Such notable social leaders as Potter Palmer and ex-Adm. Robert J. Peary owned stock, and Senator Willis and Judge Willson blame the liquorists for their contempt of law. We admit that, however, they got away with this, within or without the law, their work was good. Federal officers guarded the trucks which made the deliveries. Frank laws have frank results. Maybe the stockholders thought they were on the square.

In THE TRIBUNE'S stock of death, at this writing, the toll of moonshine is sixty-three, and we do not know of a man of prominence or wealth who has floated to the undertaker on a stream of poisoned liquor. The poison, made and sold by obscure Volstead violators, reached obscure victims.

At the Maxwell street market, Maxwell and Halsted streets, you can buy stills and coils. Probably every third or fourth booth is devoted to their sale. You can buy bourbon or grey flouting and all the accessories of distilling and brewing, malt extract and hops, brewer's sugar, capping machines, etc. Stores in various parts of the city sell the brewing ingredients and the brewer's outfit.

The Maxwell street market is not frequented by the rich. The rich cannot distill or brew. Their servants would get them if they did. All these ingredients and utensils go into the hands of what the police regard as the people.

California grapes decayed beyond use for another purpose than fermentation, bring high prices, in season, on South Water street. The son of sunny Italy working on the railroad right of way has his wine or knows a friend who makes it. The Bavarian and Bohemian wishes his home brew were Minchener or Pilsener or some other creamy beer, but he has his home brew.

The idea that the rich only make a bum of Mr. Volstead in a mistake of the conventional mind. To divide society on this question, into the predatory rich and the innocent poor is to ignore every fact of prohibition as is in the United States. In this respect American society is divided into just two classes—people who want to drink or to decide for themselves whether they drink or not and people who do not want to drink and insist that no one else shall. In both classes there are men with millions and men who wish they had a dime.

The two probationary policemen who filled themselves with poisoned liquor the other night and wound up the bout by shooting a saloonkeeper did not stagger out of the Chicago club and do their shooting in the Dugue.

This question does not divide capitalist and proletarian. It divides Kansas and New York. New York is willing that Kansas should do as it wishes to do. Kansas says that it intends to do as it wishes and that New York also shall do as Kansas wishes.

American democracy would have come upon stranger days than we think it has if this were not resented. It is a matter of conviction on both sides. Prohibitionists think it is a matter of depraved appetite on the other side. There are anti-prohibitionists who are not drinkers. Edwards of New Jersey is an abstainer but a wet.

Prohibition as is in the United States has nothing to do with the amount of money in the pocket. Where the law is regarded as an improper interference with the rights and pleasures of man there is disregard for it, and it does not matter whether the citizen pays a small rent or owns a big house. For the greatest infraction of the law search the cottage, whether vine clad or facing an alley.

WILL THE BUS LINES MAKE GOOD?

Announcement that the Chicago Motor Coach company will start its south side bus service next Sunday, considered in connection with a recent complaint of overcrowding in the north side buses which appeared in the Voice of the People, prompts an inquiry to the company: Are the buses to allow standees to crowd their aisles?

The question of allowing standees in buses was given serious attention early last winter, when the motor coach company's request for a franchise was before the Illinois commerce commission. At that time THE TRIBUNE suggested that the granting of a franchise should be made contingent upon a pledge by the company that it would allow no standees and that a clause to this effect should be included in the franchise. Mr. John Hertz, as head of the reorganized bus company, gave his pledge at that time that there would be no standees allowed.

They are being allowed in the north side buses. Persons who would rather be crowded than to walk or to wait perhaps approve of this arrangement. But the fact remains that such service is not the credit to the company or to Chicago which we had expected under the control of Mr. Hertz. It should not be continued.

It is natural that a company which is operated for profit should allow it. Every standee means an added dime, with decreased overhead expense. But every standee also means discomfort for every other passenger and slower service for all. A 10 cent fare is sufficient to give a profit without standees. Extra buses should accommodate the extra passengers. Persons who cannot find seats ought to walk or ride elsewhere. They do so on the south side without a bus service. They certainly ought to be able to do so when one is installed.

New York and European cities enjoy the advantages of bus services operated under such a rule. Chicago can do so much. If the authorities which grant the franchises here cannot enforce such a rule, we will look to Mr. Hertz to do so. We have his pledge that "no matter how great the rush, no bus will take on passengers after all its seats are filled."

EUROPE IS FATTY AND UNCLE SAM IS WILL HAYS.

The more we think of what Europe says it wants of us, and of what our soft cerebrums say we must do for Europe, the more we think of Fatty Arbuckle and Will Hays. Fatty was in a great disorder. The whole movie business was in a great disorder of beautiful morons and cavemen.

Gentlemen shooting themselves in the arm and other gentlemen in the head; beautiful ladies eating peanuts and reading the Police Gazette in beautiful cars; accomplished gentlemen, with many silk nightgowns hanging in the wardrobe, found dead on the Persian rug, still clutching volumes of Suetonius, Freud, or Harold Bell Wright. Gin and Bermuda lilies, dope and gunmen, the lascivious jazz record and male swimming pools. This was the life, but the candle burning at both ends had a fire started in the middle, and Will Hays, dictator, was implored to step in and make life real, earnest, and sober.

We are, as they say, intrigued by the fac simile which Europe is to Hollywood. The beautiful morons, dope fiends, gunmen, and gin drinkers are there, and something, it seems, must be done about it. Our Uncle Sam is to be the Will Hays of this Hollywood which lies over the water and wishes to retain its reputation.

We call Lord Robert Cecil's attention to the fact that Mr. Hays was beguiled by about $100,000 a year to lend his conspicuous virtue to the correction of Hollywood. He earns it. If he really does what he is expected to do, he is worth twice that. Now we imagine Mr. Hays entering into an agreement with Mary Miles Minter, with a look of frozen horror on her face (hold it! Mary, says Mamma; I'll get a camera; Ed Hart, denying that he is the father of any children except his own; Mabel Normand, eating peanuts and reading the Police Gazette; Wally Beak in one old brave days fighting against the needle, and Taylor, already dead on the Persian rug. We'll imagine that.

There, we'll say, is Uncle Sam, entering European affairs. There is Europe. Could anything be more as Europe? The world, the flesh, and the devil, ruin, laughter, consumptive coughing, ecstasies, death, despair, and peanuts. Mr. Hays enters, but to give orders, not to take them. He will tell Miss Minter what to do nights. She will not tell him where to go. Mrs. Hays would not stand for that. Neither will the American people stand for Europe telling the United States what it should do.

If Europe wants to be straightened out, we think we might find one or a half dozen American citizens competent to do it. We'll bet Charles Dawes could do it with a few Hell Marias. The principal thing is to say: Whatever you're doing, stop it. Then a great peace would result. If every European nation just stopped doing what it is doing, the European Hollywood would be as the Illinois Evanston. But the point is that our international Mr. Hays, the salvationist, is to do the bossing, and not be bossed. We want to know that he comes home nights without any entangling engagements.

Does Europe want us on these terms? If so, say so, and the matter can be arranged. But bossing Europe is even bigger than bossing Hollywood. It ought to be paid for. Suppose the French, Belgians, Serbians, Italians, etc., agreed to pay for the services one-half the interest they owe us on loans. Too much? Make it a third and take it away.

THE GATEWAY AMENDMENT.

A resolution for the submission of an income tax amendment to the constitution has been introduced in the legislature, and its author says that he will press it. Only one amendment, under the constitution, may be presented at a time. The one ought to be the liberalizing amendment which will permit the submission of more than one. Then there is a fair field for change. Enthusiasm in a single cause are so impatient and bull-headed. The gateway amendments would give them all their chance, but they want to be first in the line.

The gateway amendment is the way to prepare the constitution for amendment. Then the needed changes, which failed in the constitutional convention and referendum, can be made. Advocates of the various changes must be patient until the amending clause has been liberalized. Then in the subsequent legislature the way is clear for the submission of the most important questions.

The policy is approved and the only question seemingly is as to the number of amendments to allow at one session. There probably will have to be a compromise between conservatives and radicals in this respect. We believe that the more liberal the amending clause the better, providing it requires a two-thirds vote in the legislature to submit and a majority vote in the election to approve. For practical purposes it probably will be found that three amendments at a time will make it possible for the state to meet all the requirements of change in its organic law.

Editorial of the Day

WILLIAMSON COUNTY IS HOPELESS.

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

The second acquittal of some of the men accused of participation in the Herrin massacre can only be interpreted as indicating Williamson county's set purpose to go on to the end justifying the murder of twenty-one men who had surrendered to union coal miners under pledge of safe conduct out of the county. When the jury in the first trial found the defendants not guilty, to the amazement of all who had followed the testimony, there was a lingering hope that the verdict was the result of a mischance in the selection of the jury which might be avoided in a second trial. But the second jury, in the face of a stronger case than was made in the first trial, has duplicated the miscarriage of the first trial.

There seems little reason for the state to continue its efforts to punish the Herrin murderers. The two juries were as good as can be obtained in the county, as honest, as courageous and as intelligent. If they seem to have been wholly lacking in these qualities nothing better can be expected from any jury that may be selected. It seems hopeless to find in Williamson county twelve men with enough intelligence, honesty and courage to do their duty to the state.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

PREPARE TO MOUNT!

Trumpeter, trumpeter, out of your bunk. It's time to-toot your horn. So get you down to the megaphone. In the midst of the early morn.

Winter has gone and spring has arrived. Calling the troops away. Out on the plains in column of fours. Marching at break of day.

We'll bivouac in the woods tonight. Making our beds on the pine. Hearing the stamp of the horses' feet. Down on the picket line.

Flutter of guidon and jingle of curb. Hark, how the squadron clangs! Your saber oughtn't to pound your knee—It's all in the way it hangs.

So clean your rifle and shine up your spurs. Buckle and bit and chain. Pack your saddle and say your good-byes. We're taking the field again.

AND NOW all the papers are publishing first page stories that while King Tut was lying dead and awaiting burial his widow offered to marry one of the sons of the King of the Hittites. We are saying that Mr. Tut was a better than he ought to have been, but we do think it's a little late in the day to stir up scandal about her, and if the King of the Hittites gave out the letter said to have been written by her and which was published last night in the Daily News, then all we can say is that the King of the Hittites is no gentleman and we are surprised at Mr. Lawson for permitting the letter to be printed.

BY US THAT LAST LINE IS A MUSTER.

R. H. L.: How's this for a—? I left a young lady friend of mine last Sunday evening, and before parting we had a little friendly battle. After the war was over she came out with, "Oh, you're just like R. H. L.; you've got to have the last word." Pretty snappy, eh? SLIM THE SOUTHWESTER.

QUESTIONNAIRE.

(Please reply to Dandera's questions, for the sake of science.)

This is addressed to married ladies.

1. What is the greatest attraction about your husband?

2. How does he differ from other men and why do you stand for him?

3. Does he really go to the lodge or the club when he is out? Now who stands on either hand and keep the bridge with me? Then out spoke Spurius Lartius, a Raminian proud was he: "I'm for you, O Horatius, but my business first, you see." And out spoke stern Herminius—of Titian blood, Oh swell!—"I like you, brave Horatius, but the bridge can go to hell. Alone then went Horatius, the Tuscan, hordes to check, but he was so outnumbered, he got it in the neck."

THE PRACTICAL significance of the investigation is this: The human system is maintained in a very close balance between acidity and alkalinity. Whenever any substance is taken which adds to the sum total of acid or alkali somewhere in the economy, some organ must do some compensatory work in order to re-establish the normal balance. Therefore, beware of the habitual use.

ACIDS AND ALKALINES.

No subject is there more misapprehension and wrong opinion than on that of acidity or alkalinity of the system, so called. Thousands of persons are afraid to eat fruits because they say their systems are "too acid." Others will not eat anything else because "it makes their system too alkaline." Thousands will not eat some food because it makes too much acid in the stomach. Some are afraid for the teeth when the saliva is too acid. The domain of human thought, near thought, hopes, anxieties, and fears, emotions erroneously called thoughts, is riddled with error, and the domain of human practice is filled with contradictions because of lack of knowledge of the acids and alkalities of the human system and of the several elements.

A part of the trouble comes from the use of wrong instruments of measurement. The simplest of all these instruments is the litmus paper. This paper is supposed to turn red when wet with an acid and to turn blue when wet with an alkali. Let us say a person wants to know whether his mouth is acid and, therefore, whether his teeth are going to be in peril. He applies some of his saliva to litmus paper. It turns red, but it has been proved that when it comes to testing saliva, the use of litmus paper, while a simple, easily used measure, is often a directly misleading one. As a matter of fact, with all of the fluids to which these tests are applied, all the procedures commonly used because of their simplicity give results which are erroneous and misleading at times.

And then a part of the trouble is due to the fact that even the most scientific of physiologists have been wrong, or the subject has not been scientifically investigated by any one. In a recent number of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Hubbard and Munford published the result of an investigation of the acidity of the urine in relation to the digestion of food. They experimented with twenty healthy men. They employed accurate, scientific tests.

They found that the urine became less acid during digestion and remained at a level of acidity which was not different from that of the urine before digestion. They called this "the alkaline tide."

The practical significance of the investigation is this: The human system is maintained in a very close balance between acidity and alkalinity. Whenever any substance is taken which adds to the sum total of acid or alkali somewhere in the economy, some organ must do some compensatory work in order to re-establish the normal balance. Therefore, beware of the habitual use.

While attending prize fights one day, it seems to me there would just as much sense to stop smoking prize fights as to stop it in billiard halls, bowling alleys, etc. The Tribune has come out for legal prize fights in Chicago. But the editorial to which I allude does not further that cause. For persons who object to prize fights will as upon THE TRIBUNE'S editorial added reason why Chicagoans should be permitted by law to engage in to attend prize fights in public.

AMERICANISM NEEDS NO FOREIGN PROPS.

Chicago, April 9.—My recent letter on the subject of Americans of hyphenated sympathies and tendencies seems to have stirred the ire and wrath of Louis L'Amore, Lila Letta, and their ilk. The latter party attempts to refute my statement that "no man can pay allegiance to two nations sincerely," and adds that this is true, then "no man can love his parents sincerely." The comparison is extremely divergent; the solidarity of parenthood means that both parties are united in a common bond, with common purposes, ideals and standards. The ideals and governmental regulations of two distinct nations are so generally dissimilar and foreign to each other that it is not humanly possible to maintain fullness to both at the same time.

NOT FROM A WINNER.

Chicago, April 6.—Why is it that two issues contests are always managed unfairly? This Tongue Twister contest, like so many of the other things that you run, is surely one of the best of farces, in that half of the contest are the most idiotic, farthest from a tongue twister imaginable. Look over and see what a jumbling of words, far from reasonable and further being a thing with any cleverness or sense about them. I know of many which have been sent in, girls from the place where I work, whose efforts have been the most clever. Still, not one of you is ever heard of. You hear it everywhere—on the cars to and from work—on the bus—everywhere, what people think of it, and the unfairness in making friends for THE TRIBUNE by can't you run things with some sense of fairness, anyway?

FASHION PRE-EMINENCE in SHOES

(A Few New Thoughts on STYLE plus EASE:)

STYLE IN FOOTWEAR differs from Style

in other apparel, of both men and women. It is a subtler art, because BEAUTY must adapt itself to vital ease. If one is at all "conscious of having feet" one cannot sustain the distinguished bearing which is so well deserved by the correctness, grace and richness of one's costume. Elegance and ease must deftly and silently be merged.

THUS IT IS THAT THE INFUSION OF TRUE ART INTO THE DESIGNING OF SHOES TRANSCENDS ALL OTHER PHASES OF THE ART OF ATTIRE. (AND THE GREAT SHOE DESIGNERS ARE FEW, INDEED.)

BOTH MEN and WOMEN

with a moment's thought, realize that what is called the Creative Instinct of the really great shoe designers is naught but an Accurate Sensing of the Unspoken Desires of those people whose good taste and good judgment in their buying determine what shall, and what shall not, become the Vogue of the day. Even so distinguished a style-source as the house of O'Connor and Goldberg cannot truly be said to CREATE fashions, although the world so expresses the fact. In truth, the credit for our prestige (now more than merely National,) belongs largely to our wide-spread clientele of elective patrons. They, indeed, appraise the case well—and we indeed, appreciate their appreciation of the service we render.

Another gratifying fact, true of yesterday, of today and of the future, is that

HOOVER PLEADS FOR HARDING PLAN OF WORLD COURT

Leaves U. S. Free Agent, He Tells Women.

ing the league in any sense. The connection of the court with the league is indeed remote. Its sole relationship is that the judges are elected as provided in its own statute, not by the league, but by the representatives of the nations to the league acting as an elective body for this purpose. It is this elective body that we join, not the league.

"To some people, the league is such anathema that even its many good acts are bad. Let us admit frankly that there are among our people many thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands, who, as regards the phrase 'league of nations' are still under the tyranny of emotions associated with that phrase during the political controversy of the last four years. It is unhappily true that in such 'controversies,' a phrase is given an odium which disturbs the orderly march of entirely dissociated ideas. What they would willingly consent to as a thing standing by itself, they shrink from merely because it has association with a phrase.

No Quarrel with Borah. "Another section of the opponents of President Harding's proposal damn it because it does not go far enough; because it has no teeth in it. This is the basis of Senator Borah's objection. I admit the enlightenment and the courage of his position. Senator Borah wishes to go much further than President Harding. He would have an international court of such strength that it would try war itself, and would have us join it in such a manner that we would be obligated to its jurisdiction.

"Senator Borah's international court in its relation to the nations would be somewhat an analogy to the Supreme court of the United States in its relation to our states. Now, by all means, let us have no quarrel on the subject, but let us have admiration and respect—for those who show the vision and the courage to go this whole distance. But let us admit that as a practical matter, for reasons familiar to all of you, America is not ready to go this far.

Imprecable Reformers. "Wisdom does not so much consist in knowledge of the ultimate; it consists in knowing what to do next. Frequently those who contribute most to destroy good causes are those who refuse to work day by day within the field of practicable accomplishment, and who would oppose all progress unless their own particular ideas be adopted in full. Progress in the world must come about through men and women of high aspirations and high ideas. But no less must their real march be achieved through men and women whose feet are upon the ground, whose proposals are devoid of illusions, and above and beyond all that are within the practicability of day to day statesmanship.

"To sum up, this is one more, and an essential step on the road of fundamentals to all real peace, and that is the maintenance of good will through the elimination of the causes of war." Judge Allen's Plea. Miss Allen, in her plea to outlaw all war, said: "We have to make the world agree that international fighting, unless in self-defense, is criminal, murder. What form the law should take is plain. It should declare war as a crime against civilization and outlaw it as such. This cannot be enacted by a legislature or a parliament. It must be enacted by the civilized world." "The President of the United States has requested our entry into the league court. I favor any reasonable and intelligent step which will indicate an intention to take our part in the work of attaining world-wide co-operation for peace, but, my friends, do not be deceived as to the effectiveness of such an action. The league court is a consent court, which, under the league of nations' constitution,

HARVEY COMING TO HELP HARDING IN WORLD COURT

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

LONDON, April 11.—(Tribune Radio)—The American embassy here tonight confirmed a report from Washington that Ambassador Harvey will go to the United States shortly on leave to manage President Harding's campaign to bring the United States into the international court of justice. The same thing was implied in guarded answers by others.

It is impossible to learn whether Mr. Harvey expects to return to London as ambassador, that largely depending on developments in America. Mr. Harvey, who is now in Norfolk studying the farm hands' strike, will be accompanied by Mrs. Harvey, his daughter, Mrs. Marcellus Thompson, and his granddaughter, Dorothy Thompson. article 14, can have no jurisdiction except by common consent of the parties.

Look for Resolutions Today. The enthusiastic demonstrations following tonight's address of both Secretary Hoover and Judge Allen forecast that tomorrow's session will be with resolutions on the Women Voters' league's possible stand. Miss Ruth Morgan of New York, chairman of the committee on international co-operation to prevent war, went on record today as being unqualifiedly in favor of the league's backing the administration's world court plan. The first public stand taken by any of the delegates, but it was believed to be only the opening gun of the convention battle on the topic.

LONDON STUDIES U. S. PROTEST ON INDIES RUM MART

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

LONDON, April 11.—The soviet government was denounced in the house of commons as pirates this afternoon by Viscount Curzon (not the foreign minister) amidst cheers from the Laborites. Viscount Curzon asked for further information regarding the seizure of the trawler James Johnson and the Tynny from Ronald McNeill, undersecretary for foreign affairs, that no information has been received.

"How long is the British government going to tolerate this state of affairs? The soviet have committed an act of piracy on the high seas against British workingmen," Mr. McNeill replied that it was impossible to take action until it was known what had happened.

Bootlegging in United States. A question was raised regarding an alleged act of piracy in connection with the Yarmouth schooner Eddie James off the New Jersey coast on March 2. This led to a short discussion of bootlegging into the United States, in the United States on this subject. Mr. McNeill said representations had been made by the United States government regarding the exportation of liquor from the West Indies ports, which appeared subsequent to be imported into the United States by small craft manned by United States citizens.

It was very difficult, he said, for the government to interfere in the legitimate export of any article from British territory. The government would, however, deplore the complicity of any British subject in any infringement of the laws of the United States, and was considering whether any action could be taken in the same desired by the United States.

Arm British Rum Runners.

E. Shinwell, a Laborite, asked if the government was aware that vessels were leaving this country manned by British seamen, who were handed revolvers and offered high wages as an inducement to undertake the risk of taking liquor from these shores to American ports, and if the government was aware of the rising feeling in the United States on this subject. Mr. McNeill said he was aware of this, and his answer showed that the government appreciated the situation. Mr. Shinwell is a member of the Glasgow group of Labor extremists, and is a prohibitionist.

U. S.-CANADA SPLIT

Washington, D. C., April 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Shipping complications of an extended character between the United States and Great Britain and her dominions are regarded here as probable as a result of a controversy between the Washington and Ottawa governments over two small vessels on the Great Lakes.

The ships were purchased from the shipping board under contracts to prevent any purchaser of shipping board vessels from using them as rum runners. While officials at the British embassy declined to comment, there were indications tonight that the Canadian government would be equally firm not to admit any ship that had been bought from the shipping board under the present terms of contract.

Canada Remains Firm.

Ottawa, April 11.—Canadian government officials when advised today that the United States state department had confirmed the shipping board's decision that any ships it may sell must not be used in rum running, stated that the effect of that decision would be a refusal of Canadian registry.

Girl Confesses Theft in 3 Cities; Find $500 Loot

Arrested on suspicion, Helen Brown, 18 years old, of 2355 South Park avenue, is alleged to have confessed last night to numerous burglaries in Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, and Detroit, Mich., in homes where she was employed as a domestic. Loot totaling $400 was found in her room, the police say.

For those who have an ear for music!

The Edison Phonograph

The niceties of enunciation, of expression, that the singer studies so to attain are unmarred in their re-creation by this amazing instrument. It perpetuates the living voice. It is the artist who sings for you again. One forgets about records or mechanism while listening. Involuntarily you turn, half expecting to behold the singer. Only a demonstration can give you a true understanding of what this means. Come in. No obligation is inferred by a visit.

Moderate Terms

Any one of the many beautiful models, upright or console style, may be purchased on terms. Nothing down! Pay only for the first selection of records. You can pay later for the instrument in low monthly installments.

WHAT TO EAT AND WHY

"Proteins" in Your Food Important for Tissue-Building

The Proteins in our foods are in charge of an important work for us. They are the necessary factor in building and maintaining the body-tissues. We need a certain, definite quantity of Proteins daily from our food—and the quality as well as the quantity of the Proteins is important.

Grape-Nuts includes the excellent Proteins of the wheat, and the supply of Proteins is supplemented by the cream of milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten.

The Proteins in Grape-Nuts are combined with a very desirable form of carbohydrates (the grain starches) which are partially pre-digested through the long, slow baking by which Grape-Nuts is made. In its easy and quick digestion and assimilation Grape-Nuts helps prevent the unfavorable intestinal conditions which often occur from other sources of Protein supply and which greatly interfere with nutrition.

Grape-Nuts, with cream or milk, is a complete food, containing phosphorus, iron, calcium and vitamins—elements vitally necessary for the body's needs but often lacking in modern, "refined" foods.

You will find Grape-Nuts wonderfully crisp, flavorful and appetizing—a delightful part of any meal and an important aid to health and fitness.

Ready to serve from the package—order from your grocer today. Many servings to a package of this genuinely economical food. Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder. There's a Reason. Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE DUOFOLD POINT IS GUARANTEED 25 YEARS

Day by day Duofold grows on a man

The black-tipped, lacquer-red Pen that's all but human!

HAVE you ever noticed how fondly the Duofold user handles this handsome big lacquer-red pen? How he guards it more jealously than his watch? And yet, how pleased he is to lend it.

For he need not fear that another's style of writing will distort its 25-year point. And he knows that the Duofold will ever conduct itself to the credit of its owner.

Day by day the Duofold user forms an affection for this faithful co-worker.

Perhaps it is partly due to its business-like feel and balanced swing, partly to its super-smooth point, and partly to the sheer simplicity of its press-button filler which, after all, needs be used but seldom, because of the over-size ink capacity.

But more than all, is the fascination of writing via Duofold! Duofold may also be had in plain black if desired. No extra charge for neat gold pocket-clip.

WIFE'S FLIRTING CALLED CRUEL BY BANKER IN SUIT

His Brief Romance Began
That Way, He Says.

Flirtations with other men, whose guest she was at frequent dinners and dances, are cited as "inducement" by Louis G. Pavay, manager of the collection department of the Federal Reserve bank in his answer to a suit for separate maintenance filed by Mrs. Alberta C. Pavay, secretary to Edward Clifford, secretary of Washington state. Mrs. Pavay is said to be the sole heiress to a $300,000 fortune.

The suit, marking the collapse of a thirty day romance which was admittedly the culmination of a hotel lobby flirtation, will be heard today by Judge Ira Ryner, who recently denied Pavay's plea for annulment of the marriage.

Says She Was Cast Off.

While Mrs. Pavay, in her bill filed by Attorney Frank B. Teed, declares that she was cast off by Pavay in less than a month with the simple declaration that "it is impossible for me to live with you," the banker charges that his bride fled to her former home following revelations of alleged misconduct soon after their wedding.

"It was while I was on a vacation in October, 1921, that I first met Mrs. Pavay, then Miss Alberta Campbell," says Pavay in his answer. "I sat in the lobby of the Hotel Washington in Seattle reading a newspaper. Directly across from me sat a girl apparently reading a book."

"Her glances and the expression of her eyes caused me to notice her, and the eyes indicated to me that my advances would not be unwelcome. I went to her, explained that I was alone, and invited her to dinner. She assented and we attended a theater, took an auto ride, and I visited her home."

Tells of Romance.

Boat rides to Tacoma, auto rides in Portland, and frequent meetings in Seattle culminated, the answer continues, in a proposal of marriage by Pavay after "we had many conversations relating to our personal affairs, our past lives, and future prospects."

Pavay returned to Chicago and was followed by the then Miss Campbell, whom he married on Jan. 21, 1922. Unable to accompany his bride on a honeymoon tour, Pavay asserts he arranged that she should accompany the family of his brother-in-law, J. B. Emerson of Oak Park, on a southern trip.

Stories of Flirtation.

Emmerson returned hurriedly from the trip, Pavay charges, with stories of Mrs. Pavay's "flirtations" in several cities, adding that her conduct was such that it was impossible for Mrs. Emerson or his daughter to associate with her. Mrs. Pavay returned to Chicago in response to Pavay's summons on April 16, 1922.

"It was a Sunday morning," Pavay asserts, "and my wife pleaded fatigue from the long trip, and I went to church alone. When I returned I found a note reading, 'I am going—you will hear from my attorney.'"

MILK VS. BOOZE BOTTLE, WOMAN DRY AGENT'S PLEA

"Swat the home brew and boost the milk bottle."

That's the battle cry of Miss Georgia Hopely, only woman federal prohibition agent in America, who stopped off in Chicago yesterday enroute west, where she will lecture to a number of women's organizations. Miss Hopely, who had charge of publicity in Ohio during President Harding's campaign, is attached to the Washington prohibition headquarters. Her particular function in the prohibition enforcement organization, she says, is to get at the liquor situation in homes.

"My business is to back the milk against the whiskey bottle," she said.

CLEAR TRACK FOR GATEWAY LAW, AIM OF BACKERS

Seek to Delay All Other State Amendments.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—The most important matter before the Illinois legislature in the opinion of Representative Ronalds (Rep., Springfield), chairman of the judiciary subcommittee to which the proposition has been referred.

A vigorous effort will be made to sidetrack all other proposed constitutional amendments for a gateway resolution.

Session Is Delayed.

Representative Ronalds called his committee together for a short session tonight, but so many proponents of constitutional amendments wanted to be heard that further consideration was postponed until next week. Mr. Ronalds proposed that the meeting be made a special order for Tuesday or Wednesday night.

Other members of the subcommittee are Representative Cutler (Rep., Fulton), Hair (Rep., Chicago), Roberts (Rep., Chicago), and Green (Rep., Winnebago).

Representative Soderstrom (Rep., La Salle), author of the gateway resolutions and one of the most liberal members of the house on the question, and making the amending clause of the constitution more elastic, declared that he regarded other proposed amendments at this time as "stumbling blocks" for the gateway proposed.

"The gateway amendment should come first," he declared. "I am not particular just how far it goes. A resolution permitting consideration of three amendments at a time seems to be the most popular. This sentiment for liberalizing the amending clause grew out of the fight over adoption of the proposed new constitution last year. With the gateway once adopted amendments to the revenue and other articles could follow, but the gateway should come first."

Until the amendment is adopted not more than one constitutional change may be voted on at one time.

Senator Henry M. Dunlap, the patient and persistent sponsor of the state police bill, announced tonight he would call the measure. "Vote Is Due" up for a vote in the senate next week, he declared.

"I feel confident," he said, "that the bill will pass the senate. I am disappointed to find that Senator Meents had introduced another bill, which provides a highway police force. I think examination of that bill will show that it would be fully as expensive as the state police, without giving results. It provides that members of this highway police shall be appointed without reference to civil service. You can see what a power this would give to a governor."

Senator Meents (Rep., Inglewood) said

L. C. HEAD TELLS OF PLAN FOR NEW LINE IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—

President C. H. Markham of the Illinois Central railroad, was on the witness stand all day in the hearing before the interstate commerce commission here in which the railroad company seeks permission to build a new line from Edwardsville, Ill., to Fulton, Ky., by way of the Metropolis bridge.

Examiner John H. Agate presided. Mr. Markham was cross-examined regarding the effect on the terminals of Centralia, Carbondale, and Mounds by reason of the diversion of traffic. He said that the diversion would injure these terminals some, but justified that on the ground that the interest of economical transportation through the whole territory served by the railroad company must be considered.

his bill had not been intended to embarrass the Dunlap bill. Presumably in his home district is expected to lead him to vote for the Dunlap bill. He thinks, however, that it will be defeated, and that his new bill has a good chance.

Speaker Shanahan took a hand in an unexpected attack from the state administration tonight on the bill to fill in Bubbly Shanahan creek, part of the south for Bubbly branch of the Chicago Creek Bill.

The bill was offered by Representative Doyle (Dem., Chicago). It permits the extension of Perryville road through the necessity of a bridge over Bubbly creek, which the United States government has condemned as worthless for navigation purposes.

Edmund P. Dodge, secretary of the Illinois Forestry association, and Ransom Kennicott, forester of the forest preserve district of Cook county, appeared before the house appropriations committee to urge adoption of the Springfield bill to create state forests.

JAIL TERMS FOR RESORT KEEPERS IS TRUDE'S PLEA

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—

Vice, like whiskey, is a by-product of civilization, members of the house judiciary committee agreed today.

Judge Daniel P. Trude of the Municipal court appeared before the committee to urge adoption of legislation which would permit judges to send resort keepers and patrons to jail.

"We will always have vice and prostitution," Judge Trude declared, "but Chicago, as a result of the recent investigations, has cleaned house better than ever before in its history. If anybody goes to jail it should be the resort keepers."

The proposed amendment to the commitment act, Judge Trude said,

WISCONSIN WETS STRIKE BLOW AT RUM SEIZURES

Madison, Wis., April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—The anti-prohibition forces in the Wisconsin legislature were successful in their first attack on the severest state enforcement act today, when they enacted by a vote of 62 to 38 the act which would restrict the search and seizure clause of the statute.

This measure, endorsed by Gov. Blaine, would permit issuance of search warrants under the prohibition law, only upon probable cause, and after being supported by affidavits of persons charging violation of the enforcement law.

The bill offered by Representative Lottel Holman O'Neil (Rep., Du Page) providing that public acknowledgment of the paternity of an illegitimate child should constitute adoption of the child was killed by the committee.

DEAR HOUSE:

Let's put it this way: Less of me will cover the same amount of you as any other paint. Then add this: I'll stick to you as long, protect you as well, make you look as fresh and clean and as for cost? Well, I cost no more by the gallon, but a whole lot less by the square yard. If all paint covered the same amount of the same length of time, then I suppose I'd be almost as expensive as other paints. But as it happens—I'm not.

The reason is this: I am made for houses, for outdoor use. Like every other Sherwin-Williams paint, I have been put together to do just one job and do that well.

Let's get together.

Yours for a longer life.

DEAD GIRL'S KIN CONFESS TAKING ABORTION BRIBES

$450 Paid by Agent
Dr. Hamilton, Charge

The mother of Frances Guest, Evanston girl, for whose death Dr. J. C. Hamilton was being tried on charges of murder yesterday through short confession yesterday that she and relatives of the dead girl had been paid a promise of $450 more if the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Mrs. Myra Guest, the mother, in the confession in the form of affidavits to William Smith and Roy Woods, assistant state's attorneys. Today will go into court to tell the jury the story of the kin of a dead girl were persuaded to sell themselves to help a man accused of her murder. Her confession was quickly substantiated by other relatives and by bank records.

Perjury Charge Also Looms.

Mrs. Guest's statements furnished the second climax to the day's developments in the trial. A few minutes later Dr. Hamilton, taking the stand, had given testimony in which the state declared a foundation for perjury charges. He directed contradicted many of the sworn statements made at the coroner's inquest.

News of Mrs. Guest's confession came just as Dr. Hamilton was being the stand, and caused a furor. Judge Phillip Sullivan's court ended only with adjournment. We rushed into the room and read Hamilton to the stand.

"Did you pay any money to any mother of Frances Guest?" he asked.

"No."

"Did you pay any money to any else to give to the mother?"

"No."

"Did you ever give to W. C. Danenberg, the defense investigator money to pay to—"

Defense Railes Protest.

Ben Short, defense counsel, rushed to the bench, shouting objections. "That's a violent assumption, counsel has no right to insinuate fore a jury—" he began.

"Counsel can ask such questions only if it can prove such things have been done," interposed Judge Sullivan.

"We'll prove it, all right," answered Woods. "We'll show when the money was paid, who got it, and all about it. The money evidence, much of it gathered by Georgiana Juul, an Evanston policeman, charges that Danenberg went to a relative of Frances Guest and said Dr. Hamilton was willing to make a settlement. The relative, after some dicker with another and with Danenberg, charged, told Danenberg that for Mrs. Guest and the family would press the case and that at least a member of the family would refuse give certain testimony valued by state."

The $450, the confessions state, was paid to the relative by Danenberg who professed $450 more if Hamilton was acquitted.

TAMMANY CHIEF'S N. Y. POWER TOLD IN $175,000 SUIT

Attorney for Ex-Partner
Charges Tiger Threats.

New York, April 11.—Charges that Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader, invested in a near-beer "war baby" and then pulled certain strings at Washington to help the concern with a British order that promised $2,500,000 profit in ninety days were made by counsel for the defendant today at the trial of Murphy's suit to recover $175,000 from Louis N. Hartog, "malto-dextrine" manufacturer.

Hartog's counsel, Max D. Steuer, further charged that his client had recently been intimidated by Tammany friends of Murphy with such speeches as:

"You want to understand where you're fixed. Anyone who don't do what Mr. Murphy wants can't live in New York. If you don't do what he wants, you'll find every branch of his administration in New York against you—the food administration, the district attorney's office, and the internal revenue department."

Murphy sued for $175,000. He is suing to recover money he invested in Hartog's glucose concern, the North Kensington Refining company, in 1918. The Tammany chief complains he broke with Hartog after making the investment, but has been unable to get back the $175,000.

Defendant's attorney described how, during the dark days of the world war, Hartog went to Murphy to offer 15 per cent of his profits, without requiring an investment, if the Tammany leader would see that Hartog got the necessary glucose to fill a big order for "malto-dextrine" for use in near-beer for British soldiers.

Demand Taxless Profits.

The glucose was forthcoming, but defendant's counsel related, when Murphy discovered the federal surtax would take four-fifths of the profits he had his attorneys draw a contract stip-ulating Murphy's share was to be figured without regard to the tax.

Two investigations, one by the district attorney and another by the municipal commissioner of accounts, were begun today into Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier's reported speech at Albany denouncing Police Commissioner Enright and his force for being respectably "in league with the bootleggers and 'bookleggers' agents."

The investigation Mayor Hyman instructed David Hirschfeld, commissioner of accounts, to undertake has been stricken to include an inquiry into Magistrate Corrigan's statement from the bench yesterday that he "deplored the depths to which the New York police department had sunk."

4 INSANE FELONS WHO FLED FROM ASYLUM CAUGHT

New York, April 11.—In a running gun fight three of four desperate maniacs, who escaped from the state hospital for the criminally insane at Matteawan early today, were captured near Kent, Conn., early this afternoon. Two of them were shot and seriously wounded.

The fourth man fled while his companions held the pursuers in a pistol battle that lasted more than twenty minutes, but a posse of state troopers and others, who captured the three after a thrilling battle, later surrounded him in the woods and he surrendered.

The four insane criminals made a spectacular escape early today. With a smuggled pistol they held up three guards, one after the other, and then forced the superintendent's chauffeur to drive them to a point in the woods near Troughsboro.

Will Not Increase Prices Until May 1st

Firestone Prices on Fabric and Cord Passenger Car Tires and Tubes, also Solid and Pneumatic Truck Tires Will Advance May 1st

The postponement of this price revision is possible only because of our realization of the price danger in the British-Crude Rubber Restriction Act which became effective November 1, 1922. We were fortunate in our rubber purchases before the Restriction Act increased the price of crude rubber 150%.

We have always endeavored to champion the cause of better made tires delivered at lowest cost to the tire user by economical manufacturing and distribution. And we are glad of the opportunity to give the car owner the additional saving at this time.

Firestone Cords embody certain special processes which result in their producing mileage records, heretofore unheard-of in the industry. Among the more important of these superior methods are blending, tempering, air-bag cure and double gum-dipping.

Firestone Dealers are co-operating with us in our movement to supply your needs at present prices as long as their stock lasts and we have advised our dealers that we will supply them with additional tires this month only so far as our output will permit.

See the nearest Firestone Dealer. Purchase a set of these Gum-Dipped Cords. Prove for yourself their remarkable mileage advantages and easy riding qualities.

CONVICT CAMP BOSS INDICTED AS A MURDER

Madison, Fla., April 11.—(By Associated Press.)—Walter Higgins, a "whipping boss" at a camp of the Putnam Lumber Co. at Clara, Fla., was indicted today by the grand jury on counts charging first degree murder in connection with the death of Tabert, North Dakota youth. Higgins was indicted on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Tabert, North Dakota youth, who was killed three days after being whipped by Higgins. Higgins was indicted on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Tabert, North Dakota youth, who was killed three days after being whipped by Higgins.

CONVICT CAMP BOSS INDICTED AS A MURDERER

Madison, Fla., April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Walter Higginbotham, "whipping boss" at a convict camp of the Putnam Lumber company at Clara, Fla., was indicted here today by the grand jury on three counts charging first degree murder in connection with the death of Martin Tabert, North Dakota youth.

Tabert died three days after he had been whipped by Higginbotham in February, 1922, according to witnesses who appeared before the grand jury today. Camp officials contend the youth died from natural causes.

Higginbotham was released tonight on bail of $10,000, pending his trial. Circuit Judge Horne announced that Higginbotham probably would be tried at a special term of court, May 15, at Cross City, Fla., the county seat of Dixie county, where the whipping is said to have been administered.

Camp Boss Is Silent.

The former camp boss had nothing to say when informed of the grand jury's action. Higginbotham's attorney said they would admit that the lash was used on Tabert, but that the blows given him were light and were administered because of his failure to work. The blows were not hard enough to have inflicted severe injuries, it was asserted.

Attorneys here representing the Tabert family in North Dakota intimated tonight that they would, immediately after the trial is called, file a suit in United States District court in Florida or Wisconsin, seeking $50,000 damage against the Putnam Lumber company, which is a Wisconsin corporation. Higginbotham was in the employ of the lumber company, which is said also to have had a contract with officials of Leon county to lease all county prisoners under their jurisdiction.

War Veteran Also Beaten.

Declaring that he had been whipped from head to foot and now carries on his back physical evidence of the flogging, John T. Gardner, private, Battery F, 4th United States field artillery, stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., related to the grand jury a story of alleged brutalities while he and Tabert were confined in a convict camp near Clara, Fla., fourteen months ago.

Sixteen other witnesses were lined up during the day and awaited their turn. J. W. Jackson, a native of Florida, and a former guard at the lumber camp, claimed that he helped prepare Tabert's body for burial.

"Deep gashes produced by Higginbotham's lash covered Tabert's body from head to below his knees," Jackson said. "There were also many scars on the head where the whipping boss beat the youngster with the butt end of the whip."

Thought Flogging Fatal.

Ninie Bell of Clara, Fla., said he witnessed the whipping of Tabert, "so severe that it was in his opinion that it was the direct cause of Tabert's death."

"I counted 107 licks administered by Higginbotham," the witness said. "Tabert was lying on the ground and Higginbotham had his right hand pressing on the boy's neck, which resulted in Tabert's face being pushed deep into the sandy ground. After the whipping boss finished I examined the youth and found that his nose was broken and his neck bleeding."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyles of Cross City, Fla., also testified before the jury. Mrs. Lyles, just before entering the jury room to testify, declared that she and her husband were on a fishing excursion near the convict camp on the day Tabert is alleged to have been whipped.

"I counted fifty-seven licks and got tired of counting," she asserted. "At first I heard screams which grew weaker and weaker. Finally there was only the sound of the lash."

About ninety-five leased convicts were at the camp, of whom thirty-five were white men, Gardner said, one of whom was Martin Tabert.

SCHOOL BOARD HALTS $82,000 IN PAY RAISES

The board of education yesterday acknowledged the receipt of a large number of complaints from taxpayers by withdrawing $82,000 a year in recently granted raises in pay.

A little group of elementary school principals and head clerks—the same delegation which two weeks ago won the increases for more than 300 of their associates—lingered around the door of the board room where the vote was taken, then walked away without saying what further action was contemplated.

Robertson Tells of Protests.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the board, offered the resolution, explaining that no money was available to pay the raises and declaring the board owed a duty to the "school children and the taxpayers."

"I have received 115 protests from taxpayers since these raises were voted," Trustees J. Lewis Coath said. Only Trustees Francis E. Croarkin and Dr. Sadie Bay Adair voted to maintain the increased schedule.

Says Many Lack Books.

That many thousands of school children are without necessary text books was disclosed by Supt. Peter A. Mortenson in a plea that the board take some emergency action to purchase books. The trustees have refused to make purchases for several months, pending adjustment of a contest with publishing companies. The officials declare the publishers are violating the law in maintaining higher prices in Illinois than in other states.

"It is not possible to say exactly how many children are without books," Mr. Mortenson said, "but the delayed orders amount to $110,000. It is a serious situation."

No action was taken other than to refer the matter to the finance committee.

Attacks Branch Banking as "Menace to Nation"

Branch banking was attacked yesterday by Henry S. Chandler, manager of the foreign department of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company, in an address before the Englewood Civic association on the topic, "Branch Banking, a Menace to the United States." Mr. Chandler, who served with a bank in Canada, described the operations of branch banking in the dominion.

How Millions of Thoughtful Mothers Protect Their Families from Daily Dangers

— a great health principle —

WHEN the great plagues swept Old World cities, ancestors of yours were there. Millions died in the blight of the Black Terror. That is why you dread dirt by instinct. That is why you are forever demanding cleanliness for your children.

Modern science has confirmed your belief. Dirt IS the arch-destroyer, the universal breeder of disease.

We no longer call epidemics an evil spell. We fight them. We try to overcome the causes. All the resources of civilization are arrayed against disease.

In this great struggle the mothers of the nation must take the most important part. For you are the "Health Doctors" of your families. The responsibility is yours.

life's best possession

Health is life's most precious possession. It is the very foundation of good looks and vivacity, happiness and success. In every country of the world the first question is "How are you?" the favorite toast, "To your health!"

There can be no health without cleanliness. Famous Research Boards have proved it. Health Boards repeat it.

But contamination is everywhere. The street dirt that grimes your children's hands and knees and faces almost certainly contains the germs of contagious diseases. When your husband returns from work his skin is filmed with dangerous dust.

What can you—the Health Doctor—do to safeguard your family?

a great discovery

Do you know that there is a wonderful skin-purifier, a soap unlike any other? A few years ago the world's largest soapmakers determined to perfect a super-soap. It would be their contribution to the war against disease.

First they combined the finest vegetable oils that money could buy to make a soap perfectly pure and delightfully bland. This soap was so scientifically made that it was itself a powerful defence against disease-infested dirt.

One of the ingredients was rich, natural palm-fruit oil which is red. So the new soap was red. To insure abundant lather, purest oil of coconut was added.

But the makers were not satisfied even with this splendid soap. They wished to add a new element—a real health element.

After endless experiments they succeeded. Blended in the fine soap was a true purifying ingredient. Because this soap made possible new standards of cleanliness and health it was called LIFEBUOY.

The unique health element gave to the soap a distinctive, wholesome odor which quickly vanishes, leaving the skin completely purified and sweet.

a tribute to mothers

The makers believed that mothers and thoughtful women everywhere would welcome this remarkable health soap for the benefit of the whole family.

And they were right! Today Lifebuoy is probably the widest-selling toilet soap in the world. In millions of homes the rich, creamy Lifebuoy lather with its EXTRA health element is purifying and protecting.

It is true that Lifebuoy is an ideal complexion soap. Lifebuoy's reputation as a baby soap is well earned. Its popularity with men is proverbial. But above all Lifebuoy is the HEALTH SOAP for the whole family.

Enlist in the war against disease. Put a cake of Lifebuoy at every place where there is running water.

Backward in school or a leader—which?

If you are ambitious for your child and interested in his future, now is the time to lay a firm foundation for his development.

Correct food has an important bearing on the child's mental progress.

The very food elements he most needs are contained in Borden's Chocolate Malted Milk—the new food beverage.

All the nutritive value of plain malted milk—richly flavored with chocolate! This delicious drink should be included in your child's menus regularly. It is exceptionally digestible, and readily absorbed into the system. It builds bone and muscle, tones up the nerves and makes permanent health.

Get your Chocolate Malted Milk from the grocer or druggist. There is no other food exactly like it. No other beverage customarily given to children has as much food value or is as generally beneficial. Serve it hot or cold in place of tea, coffee, cocoa, or milk.

UNBURNABLE

Cleaning Fluid

REMOVES GREASE SPOTS

without injury to the most delicate fabric or color

FOR YOUR PROTECTION THIS GUARANTEE IS PRINTED ON THE LABEL
Carbona Cleaning Fluid is guaranteed not to contain dangerous Benzine, Naphtha, Gasoline or any inflammable or explosive substance

Cleans—Silk, Satin, Velvet, Serge, Laces, Carpet, Rugs, Furs and All Materials

The History of "Carbona Cleaning Fluid" and "Its Many Uses"

The origin of Carbona Cleaning Fluid is due to the danger of benzine, naphtha and gasoline for cleaning purposes, from which there is always danger of fire and explosion, resulting in the loss of life and property. Carbona Cleaning Fluid was marketed at the beginning to safeguard life and property—not as a business. The expense to the originators of the idea, who are still connected with the business, became so large, that it was necessary to make it a commercial proposition.

GREASE SPOTS

Most Grease Spots are invisible at first because grease itself is usually almost transparent. It is when dust and other particles in the air settle upon and stick to it that a spot becomes conspicuous.

We come in contact with some form of grease almost every day, so it is not surprising for even the neatest of people to find Grease Spots in their home or on their wearing apparel every little while. It is for these reasons and a thousand others that a bottle of Carbona Cleaning Fluid should be in the home.

FINE LACES

Fine and delicate laces can be cleaned by dipping in Carbona Cleaning Fluid with practically no rubbing. Dries instantly without pressing or wringing out. Saves the wear of washing.

MOths FEED ON GREASE SPOTS

Moths feed on Grease Spots, and you can be certain that the holes that have been eaten through were the Grease Spots. Whether clothes are put away for the summer or the winter, or hung in closets, care should be taken to remove all Grease Spots beforehand.

It is so simple and easy with the use of Carbona Cleaning Fluid that there is no excuse for not doing so.

EDGES OF WEARING APPAREL

The clothing of men and women gathers grease and soil at the edges of collars, cuffs, sleeves and lapels, and this soils linen shirts, collars and cuffs. This can be avoided by keeping the edges of clothing clean. Use a clean white cloth or sponge soaked in Carbona Cleaning Fluid and by going over the edges lightly it removes the grease and soil, and the linen that comes in contact is kept clean and brightly.

WHITE KID GLOVES

White kid gloves should be kept white and clean. Soiled, they mar your whole appearance. They are the finishing touch to a woman's appearance. Carbona Cleaning Fluid cleans them and dries instantly, leaving them ready for immediate wear.

Directions—Saturate a clean white cloth or sponge with Carbona Cleaning Fluid, rub gloves lightly with on the hand, and the grease and soil are quickly removed. Leaves them like new—soft and pliable.

SILK AND SATIN SLIPPERS

To keep them clean and fresh is important, and they should be absolutely clean on all occasions.

Directions—Rub them lightly with a clean white cloth dipped in Carbona Cleaning Fluid and they will become perfectly clean. Carbona dries instantly and the slippers can be worn at once. It is Carbona which cleans and not the rubbing.

CHEWING GUM

Chewing gum adheres to all fabrics. It is deposited on rugs, carpets, furniture coverings, etc. Stepping on it results in its being deposited where it does not belong. Soak whatever part is gummed with Carbona Cleaning Fluid, and it is then easily removed with the dull edge of a knife.

WHITE KID SHOES AND SLIPPERS

Clean white kid slippers and shoes are no less important to a neat appearance than white kid gloves.

Directions—Saturate a clean white cloth or sponge with Carbona Cleaning Fluid, rub lightly, and all grease and soil will be quickly removed. After cleaning white kid, sprinkle white talcum powder and rub it on the slipper or shoe with a clean white cloth, or with the hand, and it will give it a finish like new.

TYPEWRITING MACHINE TYPE

For cleaning typewriting machine type see directions on label of Carbona Cleaning Fluid. Better than dangerous benzine or alcohol. Dries instantly without wiping.

CARPETS, RUGS, FURNITURE & AUTOMOBILE UPHOLSTERY

When Grease Spots appear, they can be removed instantly. If possible to get on the underside, place a clean white cloth or blotting paper as directed on the label of Carbona Cleaning Fluid and follow directions. If not possible to get at the underside, then the surface can be gone over lightly with a cloth or sponge dipped in Carbona Cleaning Fluid. By going over the entire surface it can be made to look like new.

Moths Thrive on Grease Spots

When putting clothes away, first remove all Grease Spots with Carbona Cleaning Fluid, otherwise you invite their destruction. You can be certain that the holes which have been eaten through the fabric were the Grease Spots.

Use Carbona Cleaning Fluid yourself and tell your neighbor about it
The use of a cleaning fluid without a guarantee may result in fire and explosion, not only disastrous to the user, but dangerous to the whole neighborhood. Look for the guarantee.

DAILY HOROSCOPE
Doris Blake Says:

TODAY IS LUCKY FOR THE DISCREET.

The sun and Venus are in benefic aspect today, with Mars in malefic force. It is a time when romance is likely to be dominant in the thoughts of men and women; who should be careful about entering into flirtations. Women should benefit greatly during this way, which is believed to accentuate their attractions for the opposite sex.

Those whose birthday it is have the warning of a year ahead when the natural inclination may be toward pleasure and company, which leaning must be tempered with sense if you would not make a muddle of your affairs.

Children born on this day will be restless, fond of pleasure, and unfortunate with the opposite sex.

You of this birthday are fond of society and not averse to making a great show. You are not inclined toward manual labor. You are ambitious for worldly accumulations and for social fame, and will work tirelessly to accomplish your ambitions in these regards. You have acute mental perception, which enables you to grasp a situation instantly, and for prompt quick fulfillment of plans you may be counted on. Indomitability of will and action, you lack caution and are frequently over-enthusiastic, especially as to the success of your projects. In fact, you fall through too much self-confidence. You possess great physical magnetism. Though attractive to the opposite sex and fond of social life, you are not, as a rule, anxious to marry. Your temperament is changeable and your emotions, though fierce, are soon spent.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALICO.

Soft Hats Eschew Side Dents.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The spring soft hat varies but slightly from the model of last fall. There has been a tendency towards wider brims, but so far there has been not enough difference to necessitate one's running out to buy a new hat because the old one is out of style.

However, there are many men who want a fresh hat in the spring, even if it is the same dimension as the one they have been wearing all winter. One definite change is in the manner of shaping the hat. This is rather a lack of shaping, as the smart dresser are putting only a center crease in the hat and avoiding crushing at the side. This manner is especially becoming to a man with a broad or fat face. The side dents tend to emphasize the breadth of a face. For the same reason, a man with a thin face will not want to wear his hat without side crushing, no matter if the Prince of Wales is. Becomingness should always have preference over style. Many spring hats will have a disk binding the same color as the hat, which this season will be light in color—fawn, tan, pearl gray, olive green, and such. The band is darker.

Answers. RECENT READER: Yes, if you send a stamped, addressed envelope I shall be glad to answer your question. C.S.: Dress trousers may be braided or not, according to taste. Trousers without braid are beginning to make their appearance, but so far there are more with than without.

Nothing to Do but Confess.

We were planning a party and all decided to bring something. The party was to be at our house.

An elderly woman brought a wonderful cake. I knew it was good, and as mother didn't happen to be around when she came I decided to take the cake into my room and eat it.

The woman's little girl knew she had made the cake, and when we were all seated at the table she looked around, and not seeing her mother's cake, she said in a shrill voice: "Ain't you going to pass my mamma's cake around to the company?"

I can truthfully say I never was quite so embarrassed in my whole life.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Strawberry Meringue.

One of the handy ailments among my favorite recipes is a "kiss torte" filled with strawberries and whipped cream. Strawberries and cream are quite common in individual meringue shells. Quite a number of years ago this was adopted—my version of it—in a home where taste and judgment find pleasant exercise at table, and the enthusiasm for it was quite gratifying to me. To make this my style:

Sift two cups of sugar and then sift again, and a little at a time, into the stiffly beaten whites of six eggs. Add flavoring and pour most of it, or all of it, into a large spring form. You may save out some to decorate the top—piping it on—or make little mounds symmetrically placed. Bake for fifty minutes in a slow oven.

Meringues should be rather dried out than baked. Do not be discouraged if the inside should be damp enough at the end so that the top will sink as it cooks. It will have all the better flavor. Meringues that are too dry have a chalky taste. Split, take top off, and fill with well sweetened strawberries and whipped cream.

Of course, torte refers to the round shape, and like in the American name for meringues, but it would be perfectly reasonable to call the above strawberry spumoni. Spumanti is an Italian name for the meringue which we speak of as Italian meringue often as distinguished from the French meringue.

DORIS H.: FOR A WELL DEVELOPED bust there must, first of all, be a good carriage of the body, chest up, abdomen flat; and the breathing apparatus must be kept in perfect working order by the constant practice of long deep breaths of good ozone. Cards are Issued by
Ft. Sheridan Officers for Their Polo Ball

Cards are being issued today for the polo ball to be given Friday evening, April 20, in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman by the sixth corps area polo team of Fort Sheridan, to raise funds to support the team and to meet its proportional share in the support of a team representing the army as a whole to meet teams from abroad. The ball is the first affair of the sort ever given in Chicago. The officers in charge, Capt. James C. van Ingen and Lieut. Peter P. Roden, are being assisted by a large patronage committee. Receiving will be Maj. Gen. Harry C. Hale, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George Bell Jr., Maj. Gen. and Mrs. T. H. Harries, Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman and his sister, Miss Agnes Foreman, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, and Brig. Gen. and Mrs. George van Horn Moseley.

As many social affairs as possible will be given for the Princess Santa Borghese during her stay in Chicago. The Countess Irene di Borghese, of the New York Italy-America society, under whose auspices Princess Borghese has come to this country, has written to Mrs. Russell Tyson, whose house guest Donna Santa will be while in Chicago, asking that her social program be limited strictly to the young woman gives so much of herself in lecturing that she cannot attend many social functions. The princess will arrive in Chicago April 25 and will speak that night at a dinner to be given for her at the Casino by the Chicago branch of the Italy-America society. The dinner will be followed by a reception for members of the society and their friends. Donna Santa is only 26 and is said to be a young woman of striking personality and rare beauty.

Thursday evening, April 26, Donna Santa will be guest at a dinner by the Circolo Italiano of the University of Chicago and then will lecture before the Renaissance society of the University.

The literature committee of the Arts club has arranged a luncheon for Alfred Kreyenborg to take place today at 1 o'clock. After luncheon Mr. Kreyenborg will read from his poems and plays. "The League of Nations," chairman of the committee, which includes Mrs. William Vaughn Moody, Mrs. Jerome Frank, Mrs. Herbert Bradley, Miss Frances Butcher and William A. Nitz.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Parker will give a luncheon party today at their residence, 324 Lake Street, at which the guests will be members of her family who are here for the marriage of Miss Mary Parker to Harold E. Lake of Hartford, Conn. The parents of the bridegroom-to-be, Gov. and Mrs. Everett J. Lake, of Connecticut, and his sister and aunt, Miss Marjorie Lake and Mrs. Charles Bond, will arrive in the city today. HOW TO WIN A MAN
Lack of Faith in Themselves Keeping Many Men and Women Apart.

Miss Blake continues today her series of articles of advice to young women readers of The Tribune who find themselves facing life without romance.

BY DORIS BLAKE.
 Dear Miss Blake: Out here in California, where I am working in the mines, reading is scant, especially reading about current events. I get the San Francisco papers, but the other day a traveling salesman passed through here, stopped at the hotel, left behind a copy of your paper. I picked it up, took it home, read it from cover to cover, and read your article on "How to Win a Man."

It is quite human, and if you will permit me, I would like to tell you how the thing worked and is still working out in my case. I am married. I was born in Boston. My wife is a Bostonian. I hope some day to go back to Boston. In the meantime, I am here, working on a small salary, living in a small hut at the edge of a village which has no more than 150 houses, a Chinese in a miner's cabin with me, and Japanese. It is a small mining town in the heart of the Sierra mountains.

My wife and I are very happy. She is 27. I am 32. I graduated as a mining engineer. But mines are very far from Boston. And I took some other work in a civil engineer's office. I worked for some years, and I met a girl in that office. I admired her. I knew I could love her if I let myself. But I did not. I was too youngster. I knew something of life. I had no income on which to marry. This girl knew my work. She knew my ambitions. And she had the chance to learn something of my character, the same as I of hers.

The civil engineer's office did not appeal to me. And I was dreaming of going out west, getting into some job mine. I was saving money. It so happened that I had some extra work to do. Once on a Thanksgiving day I worked until about 10 o'clock. This girl also happened to work in the office that day, and we were left alone. I remember it was snowing outside, and I looked out the window and thought of the Thanksgiving things of my childhood. I had dreamed that by the time I was 27 I would be well up in life. And here I was at 27, homeless, you might say, familyless, and certainly friendless in a big city.

It may sound sentimental, but my eyes filled with tears. I turned away from the window and caught sight of this girl sitting over her work, but not working, thinking, brooding much the same as I was. Apparently, that day, the reminiscences, and the falling snow outside had the same effect upon her as upon me. I don't know how it happened, but I said:

"Hello, isn't it?"
 "Yes, it is," she answered.
 "Shall we have Thanksgiving dinner together?" I suggested. She accepted. Over the meal I confided to her that I was planning to go to California to get into mine, to do the sort of work I wanted to do. To begin to build my future from the bottom up.

"I wish I were a man," said the girl. "I would go with you in a minute."
 "Yes," I said. "I wish you were a man. You would have been a good companion and it certainly is going to be a long time before I am out there." And then I made some casual reflections, perhaps a bit bitter about women, about the girls of today. I said something about the others, the pioneering spirit of the women of that day, the women who followed their men across the desert, across the plains, over the mountains into California.

You see I had been reading about the thing that day.

RAILROAD LABOR RIDES SMOOTHLY; FEWER APPEALS

BY SCRUTATOR.

Railroad labor is much better satisfied with conditions today than this time last year, or is too busy to take up much time with minor grievances. Disputes of this sort appealed to the railroad labor board, for the first quarter of 1923, number only 229, against 425 for the same period last year and 458 for the first quarter of 1921.

The adjustment boards set up under the transportation law in various regions are also having much lighter business. 250 figures are given out by the western bureau of train service adjustment, which sits in Chicago, but the number of cases declined sharply in recent weeks. It is known that the southeastern bureau also has less business.

Of the grievance cases appealed to the labor board, ninety-eight are considered to be the principal beneficiaries of the labor sections of the transportation law; the latter are supposed to need it least, if at all.

The falling off in grievance cases appealed to the labor board follows sharp criticism of the institution by R. C. Fullbright, chairman of the National Industrial Traffic League, on the ground that the existence of such a tribunal will encourage workmen to submit trivial disputes to it which would otherwise be decided by local committees and the management of each line. On the theory that a courthouse is successful in the ratio that litigation diminishes, the scheme of arbitration provided in the Esch-Cummins law would seem of late to be proving its value because of the falling off in the number of labor disputes.

The Esch-Cummins arbitration machinery was not created just to be starting something. The volume of trouble had already been generated under government control and was pending when the new law was passed to take it over. For a long time neither management nor men would cooperate in creating the local tribunals provided for under the law, and the labor board was swamped by thousands of cases that were ridiculous and for a national body.

Property is almost a panacea. Better times on the roads are ending this evil. Improved temper of the men may also be attributed to the fact that, for the time being, all major disputes have been settled. Every general question before it has been disposed of by the labor board, except about a dozen or so issues in some roads, which have been referred to the men and the officials, with the belief that they can settle them at home.

The railroads have ceased effort for further wage reduction or changes in rules. The clerks' union, however, announces that it will ask for another wage increase, effective after July 1. Following that, other applications may be asked for. The maintenance of way organization is certain to ask concessions. By summer, the ranks of these workers will be swelled. Confronted by the lively bidding of the steel mills and highway contractors, the roads will have to shove up the rates. Many have already exceeded the minimum requirements of the labor board. No maximum wages are fixed under the present law.

Business men have been well supplied with statistics of improved railroad performance. Unprecedented freight movement has been achieved in the face of

PRODUCE MARKETS

Weakness prevailed in the butter markets at leading cities, with New York off the market. In all markets, the advantage of securing concessions, as holders were more disposed to sell.

The cheese market in Chicago was weak, and in the east steady with a fair business. Eggs were picked up more readily and cases, against 55,508 cases last year, 140,000 cases and ducks advanced 1c with receipts 3 cars and 1,315 cases.

Butters took potatoes more freely at recent prices. Arrivals were 91 cars with 300 cars on track.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Locomotive plants in this country completed 282 engines in March, of which only thirteen were for export. In the week ended March 31 the railroads ordered thirty locomotives. 4,000 freight cars, and 231 passenger cars, including an order of the Pullman company for 100 cars. This brings the total equipment ordered by the railroads this year to date up to 1,357 locomotives, 51,320 freight cars, and 679 passenger train cars.

A sale of 4,000 tons of Cuban raw sugar to Canadian importers for May shipment at 5.65 cents a pound, f. o. b. Cuba, a new high record price for more than two years, was reported yesterday. This price is equivalent to 6 cent as pound, cost and freight, New York. Previous sales on a "cost and freight, New York" basis were at the rate of 5 1/2 cents a pound.

Reports were current yesterday to the effect that the American Linsend company would take over within the near future its largest competitor. The largest single factor in the linsend business in the United States is the Linsend Products company. In addition to the Linsend company several other organizations have been mentioned as probably being interested in the proposed consolidation. These include Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., and Arthur Daniels & Co. John D. Rockefeller is the largest individual stockholder in the American Linsend company.

The International Paper company yesterday announced a general wage increase in all its mills, effective April 15. Details of the increase are being worked out and will be made public in a few days. The wage increase, announced a wage increase for the 1,200 employees of its works in South Boston. The advance ranges up to 10 per cent.

At the annual meeting of Philadelphia Electric company, the report of President McCall, and action of directors were approved, as well as an increase authorized in the common stock from $65,000,000 to $100,000,000.

A railroad bond issue has been held back, according to reports reaching the financial district, by a new turn in the rulings of the Interstate Commerce commission covering such issues. Application of the company to float a bond issue, it was said, had been granted by the government body, but only on condition that the new bonds were to be used as collateral for obtaining new loans and that proceeds thus raised must be used to finance future improvements to road bed and purchase of new equipment.

Protection of the "street" against the bucket shop is believed by some to be the cause of the announcement by the New York Stock Exchange yesterday that no member of the exchange should make use of wireless or radio to transmit market information or forecast business. One means of control the exchange has always had over the bucket shop has been in the ticker service. When the ticker service was taken away the bucket shop was at a decided disadvantage. The fear that wireless use by the bucket shop even if sent out legitimately, is believed to have been one of the causes back of the move on the part of the stock exchange.

On recommendation by H. F. Sinclair, chairman of the board, directors of Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation deferred the question of declaring an extra dividend until a later meeting this year. Several directors are understood to have favored an extra payment in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the common stock, which was voted.

Receivers for the Eastern Polish company of Barlow, N. J., announced plans for reorganization of the firm whereby creditors will receive 100 cents on the dollar. A company will be organized to take over the firm's assets, giving creditors stock in the new company in payment of their claims against the Eastern Polish company.

A meeting of stockholders of the Port Rican Tobacco company to act on a plan for recapitalization, which was called for yesterday, was postponed by injunction proceedings. The plan involves the issuance of 100,000 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred $100 par, and 100,000 shares of nonvoting no par common, instead of 100,000 shares of capital stock, $100 par.

G. M. Stadelman, vice president, was elected president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company by the board of directors.

NEWS OF THE CROPS

Crop Expert George M. Le Count finds very bullish conditions in western Kansas and Nebraska, and in his report to Stein, Albrit & Co. from Holdrege, Neb., said abandoned acreage will be very heavy in that territory. From Superior to Holdrege, Neb., even with heavy rains at once, less than half a crop is probable. Corn is scarce on farms, and lots of corn is being shipped to the southwest for farm consumption.

"North and west from Fort Worth a few scattered fields infested with green bugs, but damage is quite small," wired Burton Humberford to Logan & Bryan from Fort Worth, Tex. "Practically all wheat in this section in very good condition. Also oats. Corn coming up nicely. Cotton acreage probably will be increased 20 per cent."

Some sensational crop reports are coming from Nebraska. J. B. Bennett & Co., the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, and other houses had numerous complaints of damage to wheat. Government detailed crop report said a heavy abandonment of acreage in the western part of the state is expected.

Green bugs have been found in ten counties in Oklahoma, but so far have done little damage, according to the government detailed report.

Some damage has been done to crops in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois by low temperatures. Wheat made good to excellent progress in eastern half of Nebraska, but the western part of the state is very poor, according to the government weekly weather and crop report. More moisture is needed in Oklahoma. Oats seedling considerably delayed. Oats shows poor stand in Oklahoma. Corn planting is well along in southern Arkansas, and considerable has been done in Missouri.

According to a New York wire, announcement is expected soon of the merger of the American Cotton Oil company, the Port Rican Cotton Oil Refining company, and the Gulf and Valley Cotton Oil company.

Production of gold in the Rand district for the month of March totaled 761 fine ounces, compared with 704,970 fine ounces in February.

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS OF EXPERIENCE
SAFEGUARDS THE SELECTION OF "DeWolf Approved" Bonds

What Is a "DeWolf Approved" Bond?

INVESTORS sometimes ask us exactly what we mean when we speak of a certain bond issue as being "DeWolf Approved."

Briefly, we mean three things:

- (1) That we have made an exhaustive investigation of the issue, and are satisfied that it is a safe and conservative investment.
- (2) That we are willing to recommend it to our clients, many of whom depend entirely on our judgment and good faith in the selection of their securities.
- (3) That we have purchased all or a part of the issue with our own funds.

Our thirty-four years' experience has given us a knowledge of investment bonds which enables us to judge accurately the fundamental values underlying the market's current offerings, and to select safe securities without sacrificing unduly the important factor of yield.

We shall be pleased to send on request a list of conservative "DeWolf Approved" bonds yielding 5.88% to 7.50%.

The New York Times.

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—On a number of recent occasions, especially when the money rate was the focus of discussion, all of the principal financial and commercial markets have moved in harmony; today each took its own course.

Prices on the stock exchange broke sharply and continued in one direction for nearly half a cent per pound for the day delivery. But wheat rose to the highest price since last December, and in the foreign exchange market a rapid upward swing in francs and sterling led to a general recovery in rates. All of these markets seemed to be moving almost wholly under the influence of professional speculation, and in all of them it was difficult to determine the actual significance of the movement.

Drive on Steel and Oil Stocks.

On the stock exchange the break of prices evidently resulted from a "drive" at the steel and oil shares by speculators for the decline; changes in other parts of the market were unimportant. This kind of tactics usually means that the swing of prices in one direction has for the time pretty nearly spent its force.

In the absence of any change of conditions governing the foreign exchange market it is reasonable to suppose there had been a sudden retreat of speculators. As the market now stands, and with the kind of talk that has lately been in the press regarding Europe's economic condition, it would have been strange if a "substantial bear account" had not been accumulated. Perhaps the most curious aspect of the recovery was the fact that the steel and oil shares, which had been the mainstay of the market, were the first to show signs of recovery.

Record Car Loading Keeps Up.

Today's statement of railway traffic, as measured by cars loaded in the closing week of March, was of a piece with the series of "record breaking" reports which have lately been coming in from various directions. The "car loadings," as reported, are nearly an absolute weekly maximum; railway traffic at this season of the year is usually 200,000 to 400,000 cars below the figure reached when movement of produce and merchandise normally reaches the year's high mark in the autumn months.

While domestic government obligations were inclined toward heaviness today, activity at higher prices was witnessed in foreign descriptions. Liberty loans, with the exception of the first five, were all lower, including the treasury note, in which a decline of nearly 1/2 of a point took place.

REDUCED CHECK FOR CREATION

BY O. A. MATHER.

That any tendency toward a wild industrial "boom" and unreasonable advances in commodity prices will be strongly resisted was increasingly evident in yesterday's news. The outstanding development was a continued movement toward lower crude oil prices. Pennsylvania crude was cut 25 cents a barrel and Kentucky crude, 25 cents. Pennsylvania refiners reduced gasoline by a cent a gallon. At the same time the leading selling agencies of copper metal reduced prices one-eighth of a cent a pound, to 17 1/2 cents. The midweek reports of the steel industry reported a more marked decline in new buying and a slight shading in the recent high rate of mill operations, indicating that buyers are not disposed to enter any scramble for steel, with a consequent bidding up of prices.

Reduction Is Surprising.

The reduction in eastern crude oil prices came as something of a surprise, although California crude was reduced moderately on the preceding day. However, the present cut in Pennsylvania crude cancels only a quarter of the advance recorded since last December. Recent high prices have tended to reduce in comparison with the advance of stocks in the country now are estimated at upward of 250,000,000 barrels. The cut in copper prices resulted from a slackening in demand, although shipments during March are estimated to have reached 215,000,000 pounds, of which 145,000,000 pounds was for domestic consumption and 70,000,000 pounds was exported. Surplus stocks of copper were reduced more than 20,000,000 pounds. The March shipments, however, were on orders placed some time ago, and copper production has been increasing.

Steel Operations Decline Slightly.

A slight decline in steel operations, about 1 per cent, is the result of labor scarcity and slackening demand. The average of operations is now about 91 per cent of capacity. The advance in steel plant shipments marks the appearance of competition from outdoor projects for the available supply of unskilled workers, the Iron Age says. "Steel making costs are up about 1.75 to 2 cents a ton. Prices have advanced more than this. The subsidence in new buying is more marked this week. Important buyers are covered so well ahead that the question of paying today's high level prices on any considerable amount of steel does not have to be faced."

The steel industry is looked to virtual productive capacity for several months. Automobile leaders are expected to generally good year. Pig iron and coke prices show a declining tendency, with ample supplies.

Motor Industry Speeding.

The automobile industry continues at high production record with 346,000 cars and trucks, the present month finds manufacturers proceeding on the same schedule and with a change that some of the smaller producers will show increases in output. "All the output is being absorbed as fast as shipping facilities can deliver it," Automotive Industries says. "Stocks of dealers' hands have been depleted, and retailers have been pressing the factories for immediate replenishment. Excellent conditions for the industry are reported throughout the country, with the improvement most notable in agricultural sections. A survey of leading distributive centers indicates that sales will continue at a level to insure capacity operations for the larger plants well up to July."

DEVER TO PICK
SOME AIDS TODAY
SEES THE MAYSlate of Four or Five
Ready Monday

Today is Friday the 13th. Mayor Dever was born on Friday the 13th and intends to decide upon cabinet appointments today. He planned that he is not in the position, but if there are any who think their selection would be unlucky, they may withdraw before 10 o'clock. Mr. Dever plans to have a cabinet of four or five members ready for the council next day evening.

The mayor-elect called upon William Hale Thompson yesterday afternoon in the mayor's office on the fifth floor of the city hall. To the incumbent will be left all arrangements for the inauguration, the task specifically being entrusted to Corporation Counsel Etzelson, who was called yesterday afternoon.

Inaugural to Be Simple.
Mr. Dever said he desired that a plain, simple ceremony. There be no meeting of the old city council according to the discussion, with the present aldermen will remain the way roll until next Monday.

Mayor Thompson will call the city to order and will preside during the early stages, present his final message and will have the roll called on Dever's $10,000 bond. When the approved the new mayor will take the oath.

It has not been decided whether the new city council organization will be adopted before or after Mr. Dever's induction into office. But the council was inclined to think that it would be more orderly to have the council adopt its rules, appoint its members, and otherwise be fully organized before approving of the bond of the mayor and his cabinet members.

Tickets to the inaugural have been printed and Mayor Thompson has the mayor elect all he would accept.

Physically the mayor's office is for the mayor-elect. Mayor Thompson will leave the furniture, given his friends. In the office until other furniture is acquired. When the new hall was built, complete furniture was purchased and installed in the new office. Soon afterward Mayor Thompson was elected and his friends him an office outfit. This he retained when his term expired. Then friends of Mayor Thompson presented him with new furniture as a parting gift.

Mr. Dever is still uncertain whether he will have an inaugural message. He has not had time even to write one. In fact he has not selected a private secretary, and the appointment of one will be presented to the council Monday evening.

O'Brien to Be Controller.
It is likely that the bond of Helen O'Brien, chairman of the Democratic county committee, will be the same as that of Mr. Dever. He was appointed city controller, unless a switch to some other place is made at the last minute. And that may be done.

Prevailing upon outsiders to accept city positions has not progressed rapidly as it was anticipated at the time. No announcements were made yesterday that any of those to whom positions had been tendered had accepted. Mr. B. Pond was quoted as saying he did not desire to become president of the school board. Prof. Charles Merriam, who has been persistent in connection with the school board, gave no statement to the press. Democratic leaders reiterated belief that the school board situation will be solved in a manner satisfactory to the citizenry. The basis of the belief being withheld, it is not now anticipated that any appointments to the board will be made Monday evening.

Igoe May Take Cabinet Job.
But the mayor-elect does not intend to name a corporation counsel, a police, and commissioner of works next Monday.

Judge Henry Horner of the Probate court is still considered in the chief legal officer, despite his desire to take the job. Former Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton, Frank Busch, attorney for the election inspectors, and State Representative Michael L. Igoe are others who have been mentioned. Mr. Igoe in Springfield yesterday is quoted as saying he will accept the place if it is tendered to him. This came after a report had been circulated that Aid. U. S. Sub would be considered for the position.
